Senate Sub Committee Gives Repeal Bill Approval

PROTECTION IS GIVEN TO DRY STATES WOULD CHANGE GAS TAX DISTRIBUTION FORMER PRESIDENT IS FOUND DEAD BY WIFE IN BEDROOM OF HIS HOME

Return of Saloon Also is Prohibited in Measure Favored by Senate Body UP TO LEGISLATURES

Senators Indicate Not to Obstruct Consideration of Repeal Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Chairman Blaine's senate judiciary subcommittee today approved repeal of the eighteenth amendment with protection for dry states and prohibition of the saloon.

The repealer would be submitted to state legislatures.

Blaine said no formal vote was taken on the repeal resolution but that he considered the committee's action as "a favorable report for repeal."

Qualified repeal in the form approved by the subcommittee is believed to have more senate support than the pending 3.2 per cent beer bill. But the necessity of a two-thirds majority in amending the constitution is a major hazard to senate approval.

Senators have indicated they would not obstruct consideration of the repealer.

Chairman Norris of the judiciary committee favors modification of the eighteenth amendment and opposes repeal but has promised that the repealer will be expeditiously handled in his committee.

The senate subcommittee was composed of Senators Blaine, Rehn, Wis., Hebrt, Rehn, R. L. Borah, Rehn, Ida., Dill, Dem., Wash., and Walsh, Dem., Mont.

Text of Measure

The text of the repeal proposal, which now goes to the full judiciary committee, was as follows:

"Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled (two-thirds of each house concurring therein) that the following amendment is hereby proposed to the constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states:

"The eighteenth article of amendment of the constitution of the United States is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 1. The eighteenth amendment to the constitution is hereby repealed.

HULK OF BIG LINER IS TAKEN INTO TOW

PORTLAND BILL, Eng., Jan. 5.—(UP)—The smoldering hulk of the once-luxurious liner Atlantic was taken in tow by salvage tugs off here today, while the French naval tug Ramier was racing from Cherbourg in a desperate attempt to place a Frenchman aboard and prevent foreign salvage.

The tug, after an all night battle with smoke and flames, got hawsers aboard and began towing the Atlantic in. The fire had burned out.

Buron Fitts Is Held Up In His Home

Dinner Guests Lined Up by Two Bandits; Robbed of More Than $100

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The most alert minds of the police department were assigned today to the job of trailing a pair of brazen young bandits who invaded the home of District Attorney Buron Fitts last night and robbed him, his personal bodyguard and dinner guests of $112.

The robbers accomplished their purpose over the oratorical protests of the district attorney who attempted to talk them into leaving. Their reply to his announcement he was the district attorney drew a sneer.

"We don't care who you are—all we want is your dough," they said.

Fitts and his wife were entertaining his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davis, the latter's six-year-old niece, Mary Lou Spear, a friend, L. R. Foster and J. A. Shunk, the prosecutor's bodyguard. They were just rising from the table when the rear door-bell rang.

Shunk, who answered it, looked into the barrel of a revolver. The bandits, silencing him with a thrust of the gun, took $70 from his wallet and a pearl handled knife. Pushing him into the dining room, the robbers ordered Fitts and his party to throw up their hands.

"What's the matter with you boys?" Fitts inquired. "Out of work? Need a little money? This is dangerous, you know."

"You're damn well right we do," one replied sarcastically.

The district attorney was forced to hand over $2 he had in his pocket and $40 was obtained from Davis. The pair then backed out of the room and fled with a confederate who waited outside in a car.

After their departure, Mrs. Fitts collapsed. She said she feared the intruders had come to assassinate her husband.

"If I had a gun on me," Fitts remarked afterward, "I could have got the drop on them both because they let me go through my own pockets for money."

CHILD MARCHERS IN CALL ON GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 5.—(UP)—A group of seven "child hunger marchers" were still looking for a sympathetic legislative committee today.

They called upon Governor Rolph with the customary relief demands yesterday afternoon. The governor shook hands with them and sent them with Al Cassel, his personal aide, to find "a senate committee which would hear their demands."

Unfortunately, the youthful "hunger marchers" had waited all afternoon to see Rolph, and meanwhile the senate had adjourned. Besides, no senate committees have yet been appointed.

"This is a legislative matter," said Rolph seriously, as he dismissed the marchers. So today they were still hunting a committee to tell their troubles to.

CHANGE POLICIES IN TWO NEW THEATERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Radio city officials climaxed a moderately successful first theatrical week today by announcing radical changes in the future program policies of the Music Hall, largest theater in the world, and the RKO-Roxy.

The changes were made at a sick-bed conference with S. L. Rothafel (Rox), director of the theaters. Effective next Wednesday the Music Hall will switch from glorified vaudeville to continuous performances of featured motion pictures and stage shows at popular prices.

Subsequently the RKO-Roxy, which has been presenting pictures and stage shows, will be devoted solely to the presentation of stage productions by producers here and abroad and scaled at popular prices.

CONFERENCE ON EDUCATION IS OPENED TODAY

Hoover Warns America is Facing Acute Responsibility to Children

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(UP)—America faces an acute responsibility during the present depression in educating her children, President Hoover said today in opening the Citizens' conference on the crisis in education.

Mr. Hoover warned that "we may delay other problems but we cannot delay the day to day care and instruction of our children."

"Our governmental forces have grown unevenly and alone with our astounding national development," the president said. "We are now forced to make decisions on the merits of the various expenditures. But in the rigid governmental economies that are requisite everywhere, we must not encroach upon the schools or reduce the opportunity of the child through the school to develop adequate citizenship. There is no safety for our republic without the education of our youth. That is the first charge upon all citizens and local governments."

"I have confidence that with adequate reduction of expenditures there can be ample amounts obtained from reasonable taxation to keep our school system intact and functioning satisfactorily. Those in charge of the schools must be willing to face conditions as they are, to cooperate in discarding all unnecessary expenditures, to analyze all procedures and to carry forward on a solid basis of economy. But the schools must be carried on."

"I wish to thank you for giving your time and coming here to Washington for this meeting. I trust that out of it will come recommendations that will be of national benefit."

FILM WRITER LOSES LIFE DURING BLAZE

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Barry Connors, 49, short story and film writer, was asphyxiated early today when fire swept an exclusive Hollywood apartment house where he resided.

Connors died in Hollywood receiving hospital after physicians tried vainly to revive him.

Several other tenants in the building were treated by the fire department rescue squad.

Police said the fire started when Connors fell asleep while smoking a cigarette.

PROBE STARTED IN APARTMENT BLAZE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Intensive investigations were underway today to determine causes and clear up mysterious circumstances of the disastrous fire which swept the Macbeth apartments on Geary street, killing four persons and injuring 30 or more.

The coroner's office cooperated with Fire Marshal Frank P. Kelly in attempting to trace reports from tenants that they heard shots and sounds of a violent quarrel a short time before the fire was discovered.

Unemployed Council In New Demand

Seek Free Meals and Rooms for Delegates on Hunger March Today

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The first of a score of bills seeking changes in the distribution of gasoline tax funds was introduced in the senate today by Sen. William E. Harper, San Diego.

The first of the Harper proposals would divide the 3-cent tax evenly between the state and counties, rather than giving the state 2 cents and the counties one under existing laws. The second bill provides for the allocation of 25 per cent of the county's share to incorporated cities within the county.

A senate concurrent resolution ratifying charter amendments of the city of Porterville was passed by the upper house, and a similar measure for Palo Alto, already approved in the assembly, also was passed by the senate.

Another measure introduced by Senator Harper would cut in half existing delinquent tax penalties.

A resolution approving the charter amendments of San Francisco was passed by the assembly.

The unemployed council of San Jose and the united front committee on unemployment of Stockton today demanded free meals and rooms for their delegates on the hunger march to Sacramento, January 9 and 10.

The demand, in the form of telegrams, were addressed to "Speaker Edgar C. Levy" of the assembly. Levy turned the requests over to Speaker Walter J. Little, Santa Monica.

The first test of Governor Rolph's strength in the state legislature was to be made today.

It was to be in the form of a vote on the resolution by Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento, demanding an immediate investigation into all phases of the Rolph administration for the last two years.

How the Rolph and anti-Rolph forces line up in the state senate were to be disclosed by the roll call.

The row over this resolution broke out in the upper house yesterday, shortly after a Democratic "love feast" in the assembly, when California's 22 presidential electors cast their votes for Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner.

Senator Inman had previously asked for consideration of his proposal as a special order for the afternoon. No sooner had the debate started than Senator David F. "Section 2. The transportation or importation into any state, territory or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein

SAYS HOOVER MADE NO PLEDGE ON DEBT

PARIS, Jan. 5.—(UP)—President Hoover made no pledge of debt revision during the Hoover-Laval conversations in Washington, former Premier Pierre Laval said today.

At the same time, the United Press was informed today that the 1933 French budget, on which Finance Minister Henry Cheron is working, contains no provision for payment of the debt annuity due the United States next June, nor any provision to receive German reparations.

Laval refused to be drawn into a debt discussion, but emphasized to the United Press that President Hoover had pledged continuation of the moratorium to France as well as other European nations during the life of the economic crisis.

Marshal Chang issued a communique stating he would initiate no effort to deal with the Japanese, and that any Japanese offers must be submitted direct to the Nanking government. Chang said he would respond to Nanking's orders in the event that a settlement was sought.

British interests might possibly become involved in the fighting in northern China, for it was reported that the Japanese planned to land 300 marines at Chinwan-tao. The principal wharves

HALLORAN HEARING AGAIN POSTPONED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Introduction of what was believed to be the defense's trump card in efforts to quash an indictment charging John J. Halloran, wealthy lumberman, as an accessory in the Winnie Ruth Judd murder case, today caused further delay in his arraignment.

The trump card was in form of an affidavit by Halloran to support a defense motion that the Maricopa grand jury was in a "state of mind" which prevented it from acting impartially and without prejudice.

Filing of the affidavit caused Superior Judge Howard Speakman to recess until late today a hearing on an amended demurrer attacking the indictment for failure to cite a specific charge against the lumberman.

FORMER PRESIDENT IS FOUND DEAD BY WIFE IN BEDROOM OF HIS HOME

Victim of Heart Attack Had Been to His Office Apparently In Good Health; Death Comes at Noon

WAS THIRTIETH PRESIDENT

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Calvin Coolidge, 30th President of the United States, died suddenly today at his home in Northampton.

He succumbed, according to physicians, to a heart attack that had developed while he was at his Main street law office, and he died alone—in his bedroom.

Mrs. Coolidge, returning from a shopping trip, discovered the body at 1:15 p. m.

The former President had been dead 30 minutes, according to physicians.

The tragic death of the sturdy New Englander, who less than four years ago relinquished his high office in apparently the best of health, provided a parallel with the sudden death of his predecessor, Warren G. Harding, who died in a San Francisco hotel while his wife was reading to him, and after physicians had believed he had passed a serious crisis.

It was upon the death of Harding, that Coolidge, then vice president, assumed office. The oath, it was recalled today, was given him in a lamp-lit room of an old farmhouse, by his late father—a justice of the peace.

In Good Health

Mr. Coolidge had been in his usual good health, so far as his family knew. This morning he left his home in time to reach his office as usual, at 8:30 a. m. He was greeted there by his former law partner, Ralph W. Hemenway, who remarked that he appeared to be "as sound as ever."

He worked steadily for about an hour and a half and then, accompanied by his secretary, Harry Ross, left for the Coolidge homestead, "The Beeches."

He left his secretary downstairs for a while, before noon, Ross continued his work downstairs, and did not accompany the former president.

Shortly after noon, Mrs. Coolidge who had been shopping, returned to the house and inquired for her husband. She went upstairs and there in his bedroom, made the tragic discovery.

Dr. Edward W. Brown, medical examiner, was summoned and, after examination of the body, said Mr. Coolidge had died of heart disease, and that death occurred probably half an hour before discovery of the body.

Death Is Shock

The news of Mr. Coolidge's death broke with stunning suddenness over this quiet town. It was almost unbelievable under the circumstances of the former president's quiet life in the midst of the scenes and news which he loved.

The four years since he surrendered the duties of the presidency had been spent comfortably. The summer had been restful, with few business cares and almost no political activities to intrude upon his comfortable and non-exacting existence.

A greater part of the summer was spent at the Coolidge ancestral homestead at Plymouth, Vt., where

CALVIN COOLIDGE STARTED RISE TO PRESIDENCY AFTER EARLY LIFE SPENT ON FARM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(UP)—After his admission to the state bar, and the beginning of a modest legal practice in Northampton, Mass., in the office of Hammond and Field, he became town clerk—the first step in a long political career.

Coolidge quickly became popular with the townspeople of Northampton and in 1919 he was elected to the city council, although he had not sought the office. At the same time he was made city solicitor. The post gave him much experience in law.

Six years later he married Grace Goodhue of Burlington, Vt., a young Northampton school teacher. So unobtrusive had been the romance between the young lawyer and Miss Goodhue that few knew anything about it until the marriage was announced.

Senator Glass Halts Talk in Order to Appraise Solons of Tragedy

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(UP)—President Hoover today eulogized Calvin Coolidge in a message officially informing congress of the death of the former president. The house adjourned after reading of the Hoover message. The senate had adjourned previously upon announcement of Mr. Coolidge's death.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The senate adjourned today at 1:57 p. m., in respect for the late former President Coolidge, whose death had just been announced by Majority leader Watson.

Senator Glass, Dem., Va., halted his speech on his bank reform bill and said: "I have just been apprised of the distressing fact that former President Coolidge has just dropped dead, therefore I think the senate should adjourn."

Republican Leader Watson of Indiana, then made the formal motion for adjournment, saying:

"Lou have just heard from the senator from Virginia of the death of Calvin Coolidge. He was a great man, a great president. It seems to me the senate should adjourn and I so move."

Democratic Leader Robinson of Arkansas, concurred in Watson's motion, saying:

"The death of Calvin Coolidge comes as a great shock. He was one of the great men of his time. He touched the hearts of millions of his countrymen. I heartily concur in the resolution."

P.-T.A. Group Opposes Health Service Restriction

CONTINUANCE OF WORK ASKED IN RESOLUTION

The recent proposal of a group of Orange county doctors that the county health department confine its activities to sanitation and inspection service, has met with opposition from Parent Teacher organizations of the county.

Believing that the public health service and prevention of disease as carried out through the immunization program in force by the health department is important, the proposal of the Orange county doctors was discussed at length yesterday at a meeting of the Orange City Council P.-T. A.

As a result of the discussion, a resolution was adopted and will be presented to Willard Smith, supervisor from the fourth district and chairman of the board of supervisors. This resolution requested the supervisors to continue the present county health program as efficiently as finances permit.

The resolution read: "Resolved that the Orange City Council P.-T. A., in executive session January 4, respectfully requests the board of supervisors to continue the county health program as efficiently as the finances of the county will permit."

At the December 26 meeting of the supervisors appeared and presented the supervisors with a communication signed by Dr. J. L. Maroon as president of the Orange County Medical association recommending that the health department's activities be limited to inspection of foods and milk and sanitation service.

In this communication the doctors urged that immunization be left for the private practitioner and pointed out that people without funds may obtain medical treatment at the county hospital.

Following presentation of the communication it was learned that the communication was not authorized by the Orange County Medical association. It was also found that some doctors who are members of the association, did not concur in the recommendation.

When the recommendation was presented, action was delayed for two weeks pending further investigation and until W. C. Jerome and LeRoy Lyon were seated as supervisors from the first and third districts respectively. Action on the proposal is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Then in 1911, he entered state politics when he was elected to the state senate. Of his four years' service in that body, he spent two as president of the senate.

Higher Honors
At the end of his senate term he was elected lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, under Governor Samuel McCall. In 1918 he was elected governor of the commonwealth, and in 1919 was re-elected. It was in this post he first gained national attention.

The Boston police strike of 1919 was the incident that commended his executive ability and judgment to the nation. His handling of the situation, and his declaration for "law and order," regardless of what might come, won him commendation in many quarters.

When Republican leaders in the 1920 convention sought a running mate for Warren Gamaliel Harding, they picked the conservative, silent Massachusetts governor as the logical man.

As vice president Coolidge presided aloofly over the senate and did not become intimate with any of its members. He did not play poker or golf. In the Harding cabinet he said little, preferring to listen to the opinions of others.

He ascended to the presidency when Harding died suddenly on a western tour. In the early morning hours of Aug. 3, 1923, the vice president, back at his father's home at Plymouth, Vt., where he had lived as a farm boy doing farm chores, took the oath of office from his father and assumed the nation's highest post.

to reduce the salary of any employee below $1000 a year.

The sub-committee restored a provision for automatic promotions, and estimated loss in savings of $4,000,000.

The sub-committee recommended a 10 per cent reduction in all pensions and compensations under the veterans' administration amounting to more than $1000 a year, but added a proviso that the cut should not reduce any such compensation below the $1000 mark.

The largest veterans' class affected by the reduction, according to figures submitted to the sub-committee by Administrator Hines, would be the disability compensation group. A total of 49,941 veterans would lose $5,752,882. The total savings under the amendment would be $8,570,922.

A further amendment provides that assignments of service officers to the Philippines, Hawaii, the Canal zone and other territories shall be for a minimum of four years.

RESOLUTIONS MADE BY S. A. KIWANIS

Hilarity marked the meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club yesterday, when members of the club were asked for New Year's resolutions by Elmer Steffensen, chairman of the day, many of which were comical and entertaining.

W. J. Tway read a resolution commending the work accomplished by W. B. Martin as secretary of the club for the past two years.

Rufus Cartwright, former member of the club, was introduced to the club members as having rejoined the club.

Dr. Harry Huffman, new president, presided at the meeting.

there are owned by the Kailan mining administration, in which British business interests are heavily represented.

Chinese officials warned the K. M. A. that they would refuse responsibility for possible damage to administration property if the Japanese were permitted to use the wharves.

The situation in the Shankai-kwan area was quiet at noon today. One Japanese air raid was reported northwest of the city, in which a plane apparently en route to Jehol dropped two bombs but did no damage.

Foreign observers at Chinwangtao reported no resumption of fighting anywhere within the Great Wall. The British sloop Folkestone reported all quiet at Shankai-kwan.

Chinese residents here and at Tientsin were disturbed by the ominous quiet, especially since a Japanese aircraft carrier was known to be off Taku bar, at the entrance of the Hai-Ho river, 30 miles below Tientsin.

Peiping and Tientsin are practically defenseless from air raids. Chang Hsueh-Liang's air fleet was seized by the Japanese at Mukden a year ago. Tientsin and the ancient Chinese capital could resist an air attack only with anti aircraft guns.

of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

"Section 3. Congress shall have concurrent power to regulate or prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises were sold."

The subcommittee was unanimous in approving submission of the repeal resolution to the full committee, but there were reservations by Blaine and Senator Borah, Repn., Id., as to their final action on the resolution.

Borah reserved the right to oppose all or any part of the repeal. Blaine said he would move either in the full committee or on the senate floor to eliminate the section prohibiting the saloon.

"I agree as to the form of the resolution but made reservations as to what I shall do on the final vote," Borah told the United Press. "The committee was unanimous in voting the resolution out. We are agreed that it is to be the form of the resolution in case any is to be submitted."

"The phraseology will accomplish the various objectives stated in the repeal," Blaine said. "Approval of legislative ratification was unanimous."

It was learned, however, that there may be a Democratic move to substitute state conventions for legislatures in ratification of repeal. Both Republican and Democratic platforms stipulated conventions. Committee members took into consideration the considerable extra cost of assembling state conventions to pass on a constitutional amendment.

Removes Obstacles
Subcommittee action on repeal removes the last obstacle to beer hearings scheduled before the same group Saturday. If a beer vote can be had after Saturday's hearing the combined prohibition problem of beer and repeal will come before the full judiciary committee at its next regular meeting, Monday.

The subcommittee's repeal resolution is in sharp contrast to the repeal submitted to the house by Speaker Garner on the first day of this short session. The house resolution boldly proposed outright repeal without qualifications of any kind. It lacked six votes of the necessary two-thirds house majority.

Garner said after the vote that he would not permit repeal in any qualified form to come before the house at this session.

Garner said the repeal resolution was "not in conformity with the Democratic national platform." "When it gets over here it will be time enough to decide whether the house will consider it," the speaker said.

FORMER PRESIDENT COOLIDGE DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME IN MASSACHUSETTS THIS NOON

he first took the oath of office while his late father, Colonel John Coolidge, held the Bible.

Here he did some hunting and fishing, wrote a little, left occasionally to attend a meeting of directors in New York, but for the most part merely "rested."

In recent weeks he had found further interest in his membership of the railroad commission to which he had been appointed four months ago, and within the past month he had given considerable of his attention to the interests involved in that organization.

Although his general health was regarded as excellent, Mr. Coolidge had suffered from hay fever for many years. During his administration at Washington the ailment took the form of rose fever, and it was reported Mr. Coolidge would not seek a second term because of a desire to be in high, pollen free regions of Vermont during the hay fever season.

An attack last summer, occurring about the fourth of July, was particularly severe, and the former president was confined to bed for two or three days.

It was thought this hay fever attack may have weakened Mr. Coolidge's heart.

His name had been linked with many vacant posts in recent months, so much that one newspaper had dubbed him "America's handy man."

It was rumored he might succeed Dr. Arthur Stanley Pease as president of Amherst college (Coolidge's alma mater); James A. Farrell as president of the United States Steel Corporation; or Oliver Wendell Holmes as associate justice of the U. S. supreme court. He was mentioned, too, in connection with the presidencies of a New York insurance company and of a projected New England dairy organization.

General Denial
So numerous did these rumors become, that only a few months ago Coolidge suggested to newspapers that whenever they occurred, regardless of their nature, they be denied.

Soon after Coolidge left the White House, he and his wife moved from their modest duplex apartment to a $40,000 18 room mansion, "The Beeches."

Only twice since leaving the White House had Coolidge engaged in politics—first in 1930 when he made one radio speech in behalf of his close friend, William Morgan Butler, U. S. senatorial candidate, and the second time in the recent presidential campaign, when he spoke for Mr. Hoover.

ated with President Hoover at the White House and were told that the president would send a special message to congress formally notifying both houses of the death.

It was decided that the only available precedents, followed after the death of President Madison, would be used in guiding house procedure. At that time, the house was formally notified by the White House of the death of the ex-president.

The news virtually stunned the White House staff. When the first flash arrived in the press room, a correspondent phoned the word to President Hoover while he was at lunch. He had no official comment at the moment except to express himself as grief stricken.

Dr. James F. Coupal, who was Coolidge's physician in Washington, said he could hardly believe that the ex-president had died.

"When I last saw him," said Dr. Coupal, "Mr. Coolidge was in excellent physical condition for a man of his age. His blood pressure was 155, which is considered very good."

"He gave no indications of heart trouble. The only thing I noticed were some bad teeth and I told him to have them treated."

Senator Pittman, Dem., Nev., said:

"I am not only shocked but deeply grieved. He made us a good president. He was a good, sound citizen. His death is a great loss to the country."

Senator Glenn, Repn., Ill., said:

"The death of former President Coolidge comes as a surprise and a great shock to America. His loss at this time is a tragedy which the nation can poorly bear."

Mr. Hoover remained at the conference only a few moments before returning to the White House.

Orange county's quota of men who will be given work when construction work on the aqueduct which will bring water from the Colorado river to cities in the Metropolitan Water District gets underway, is 200 men, it was learned today from district headquarters in Los Angeles.

The quota of men who are to be given employment is based on a pro rata basis according to the amount invested by cities which are members of the district.

will get jobs in the construction work. Orange county's quota was set at two per cent. Of these men, Santa Ana will be allowed a total of 102 men, as the amount of money invested by Santa Ana represents 1.02 per cent of the total construction cost.

900 Registered Here
This leaves a total of 98 men in Fullerton and Anaheim who will be given work, according to the figures from headquarters. Fullerton's investment represents .59 per cent and Anaheim's is .39 per cent, which, with Santa Ana's 1.02 per cent, makes the total of two per cent for the county.

The chamber of commerce in Santa Ana has received a total of 900 registrations for work on the aqueduct, 500 of which have been sent to Los Angeles with applications. Men that have already filed applications do not need to register again. Since the 500 names were sent in, 400 more Santa Ana men have been registered for work.

Applications for the 400 who have registered will be received at the chamber office within 10 days. Many who have not registered are filing their names each day at the chamber office.

Local Briefs

Due to illness, H. L. Sherman, of Balboa, scheduled to give an illustrated lecture on Tahiti at the meeting of the travel class of the night school at William auditorium, will be unable to be present tonight. Julia Ann Hyde, who is in charge of the series, announced that an illustrated talk on China would be substituted. The class meets at 7 a. m.

Those who have already filed applications for work will be notified from the Los Angeles office in regard to their applications. Those who have registered here since the list of 500 names was sent in, will be notified by postcard from the chamber of commerce when it comes to the office to make out the official applications.

INTEREST RATE MAY BE CUT BY COUNTY BANKS

In an effort to decide whether or not Santa Ana and Orange county banks will follow the lead of Los Angeles and other Southern California banks in reducing the interest rate on term savings accounts from four to three and a half per cent, a meeting of the Orange County Bankers' association was being arranged today.

The majority of the banks in Santa Ana and in other Orange county cities have agreed to reduce the rate of interest if the decision is mutually agreed upon by banking officials, according to reliable information.

Although no official action in reducing the rate of interest has been taken by any bank with the exception of the Security-First National bank, Santa Ana branch, it was understood that most of the banks in the county were agreed that the interest rate will be reduced.

It was pointed out that action one way or the other must be taken in the near future if the contemplated change in rates is made for the six months period which started the first of this year. Banks pay interest, or pay dividends on savings accounts, every six months.

The Security-First National bank has reduced interest from three and a half to three per cent, in accordance with the drop made by the main office.

Although no date has been set for the bankers' meeting, the meeting is expected to be called within the next few days.

Employment in mines of Mexico is being staggered.

Six S. A. Votes Register As Technocrats

A new political party loomed in Orange county today with the changing of registration yesterday of six registered voters who have forsaken the banners of their original parties and followed the lead of Technocracy.

These six pioneers in what is said to be a definite move toward a new party registered under the Technocratic banner.

Three of the voters who changed their party affiliations were Republicans, one Democrat and the other two had not stated their party affiliations in previous registrations. All of the voters who enrolled yesterday as Technocrats were residents of Santa Ana. They are: Benjamin F. Dunham, Elmer L. Buffham, Martin L. E. McCall, James W. Daley, Mrs. Mabel F. Whitaker and Oliver D. Bare.

BIDS ON BUILDING POSTPONED 2 WEEKS

Specifications for bids on the new Montgomery Ward company building at the northeast corner of Fourth and Main street, will not be released to contractors for bids for about two weeks, it was learned today.

Original plans called for the calling of bids around the first of the month, but changes in plans have necessitated an extension of time.

The building, to be erected on the property owned by Mrs. Emma L. French, pioneer Santa Ana, will be three stories high and will be completely occupied by the Montgomery Ward company.

CROWD ENJOYS DISCOURSE ON 'TRAIL TO GOD'

The Rev. George Tinsley, pastor of the First Christian church of Fullerton, will be the speaker this evening at the union service in observance of the week of prayer, at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Tinsley is to be heard in solo numbers. The Rev. E. M. Robb, pastor of the Free Methodist church, is to preside, assisted by the Rev. C. F. Martin, of the Orange Avenue Christian church, and the Rev. F. A. Flora, of the Church of the Brethren.

At last night's service, Mrs. Irma Huffman May was the soloist, singing "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," with Miss Hester Covington at the organ.

The sermon last night by Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, of Orange, on "The Trail That Leads to God," was enjoyed by the largest congregation of the week and proved to be a most inspiring discourse according to those who heard it.

Trail Not Easy
"The modern world has lost God and is seeking to find Him," said the speaker. "This statement is true in general, but is it true in your individual case? Are you seeking to find God? Unless you realize your need, you are probably not seeking the trail that leads to Him."

"This trail is not an easy one. It leads to a life of danger and sacrifice. Remember that John the Baptist was beheaded and Jesus was crucified and Paul died in prison while on this trail."

"Jesus said that the way to follow along this trail is to deny one's self and take up a cross. We think of bearing a cross as enduring some great disappointment or hardship in the spirit of faith, but bearing the cross in the sense that Jesus meant, is a denial of self and a voluntary taking up of a load which we are not compelled to carry unless we are willing."

"The hero in a shipwreck is not the one who goes about shouting 'How can I be saved?' but rather the one who forgets all about himself in trying to help others. One of the trails which we may follow today toward God is to forget ourselves and become lost in trying to help others, and thus we shall find God."

Points the Way Out
"Another trail suggested in the Scripture is the trail of love. It seems queer to assume that love is a comparatively new word in Christian thought, but we are only just beginning to find out that if we really want to know God the best way of all is the way of love.

"A third trail that leads to God is the path of devotion. The earnest seeker is certain to find. Most of us commonly go on the low road of surrender and cowardice and selfishness. We hoped for material success, but now we discover that our dreams have proved to be air castles, and we have heartache and remorse, and are beginning to realize that it is time for us to listen to the words of Jesus, as He speaks in love."

"Listening to His word and heeding His will is the only way out of our troubles, and the only way to God. This must be expressed in terms of loving concern for our fellowmen. If we seek Him with the whole heart we shall surely find Him and having found Him we can face life not as orphans adrift in meaningless space but as dwellers in God's universe."

UBERT FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Robert Ubert, 29, employee of the electrical crew on the Irvine ranch who was instantly killed yesterday when a huge tripod fell, crushing his head, will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow from the Harrell and Brown funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street.

The Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the Orange Christian church, will officiate at the services, following which interment will be made in Central Memorial park.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Olive Ubert; a daughter, Rose Mary Ubert; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ubert of South Manchester, Conn.; five brothers, Frank S. Ubert and Harry A. Ubert of Santa Ana; Ernest W. Ubert, Alfred H. Ubert and Charles Ubert and one sister, Mrs. Lena Doering, all of South Manchester.

Ubert had been a resident of Santa Ana for a number of years, making his home at the time of his death at 111 North Hathaway street.

Former Resident Dies Suddenly

Don Christensen, 31, former resident of Santa Ana who was employed here for about three years, dropped dead last night at his home in Long Beach. An inquest revealed that a clot on his

STUDENTS GIVE PROGRAM FOR MORNING CLUB

A program which received a warm reception was presented before members and guests of the Santa Ana Breakfast club at the regular weekly meeting in the Green Cat cafe this morning, under the direction of Mrs. Edith Ritter, principal of the Fremont school.

David G. Wetlin, past president of the club, was in charge of the program, which opened with selections by an orchestra comprised of David Higuera, Raul Montano, Tony Labo and Randall Gardner.

A quartet of four girls, Constance Fells, Blanche Valenzuela, Carmen Ojeda and Carmen Soldana sang a group of numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Mirtle Wilson. Three young girls and boys presented a Spanish dance, "Jesuita."

The featured part of the entertainment was a dance and song by Celia and Margaret Yamas, four and five-year old girls who wore in full Spanish costume, one attired as a Spanish caballero and the other as a senorita. Miss Thelma Patton director of dances at the school, was at the meeting.

The matter of making the Santa Ana Breakfast club a county organization with headquarters in this city was discussed by club members, who expressed approval of the plan to enlarge the scope and activities of the club. An invitation from Harry Arthur of Anaheim, newly elected first vice president, to meet in Anaheim on January 26 was accepted.

Kenneth Adams was voted a new member of the club at the meeting this morning.

Following the club meeting, the first official meeting of the newly elected board of directors was held with Claude McDowell, president, presiding.

A definite program and policy for the year, with many innovations over the last year's set up, was agreed upon by the directors, who will announce the plans at the next club meeting.

Judge Mitchell Back On Bench

Judge J. G. Mitchell, city recorder, returned to Santa Ana yesterday from his former home in Fairmont, Minn., where he spent the Christmas holidays. He left here late in December, on a business trip.

The judge returned to his bench in the police court today relieving Justice John Landell, of San Juan Capistrano, who has been acting as city recorder here for the past three weeks.

Utah Aggies Lose To U. C. L. A., 54-29

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(UP)—The Utah Aggies dropped their second consecutive basketball game in their Southern California invasion last night when they collapsed before a furious second-half assault of the University of California at Los Angeles carers. The score was 54 to 29.

The Aggies meet the University of Southern California at the Olympic tonight.

INQUEST ABANDONED IN BABY DEATH CASE

No inquest will be held in connection with the death of two-year-old Francisco Renosa, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maximillo Renosa, of the Tiajuana Camp, Eastern-church ranch, who was scalded to death yesterday.

Coroner Earl Abbey today issued a death certificate after an investigation of the case. The child fell into a boiling tub of water on the ranch late Tuesday and died in the county hospital yesterday morning. The body is at McAulay and Suters funeral home in Fullerton where services will be held.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Earnest prayer, as the prelude and the accompaniment of sincere effort, will emancipate you from depression and pessimism.

Others have suffered and are suffering a heartache like unto yours. None find enduring strength apart from God.

Reach out for Him with Whom your dear ones live. Open your soul to Him, seeking guidance and strength to live at your best. He will give them.

UBERT—January 4, 1933, Robert John Ubert, of 1205 East Second Street, Santa Ana, age 29 years. MAKES DUCK PIN RECORD
ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 4.—(UP)—Something approaching a record was set here the other day when Harry Cavan had a score of 156, 143, 143 in three consecutive duck-pin games.

SIXTH ARREST MADE IN BOGUS MONEY CASE

Secret service agents and sheriff's officers late yesterday arrested M. B. Moore, 39, of 935 Rosetta street, Buena Park, and lodged him in the county jail as one of the gang of alleged counterfeiters which has attracted the attention of the local sheriff during the past several days.

The man is the father of Verne Moore, 21, and La Verne Moore, 19, two of five others who were arrested on New Year's eve. The others being held in jail for counterfeiting are Homer King, 25, and his brother, James King, 27, the latter of whom is an ex-convict, the sheriff's office announced.

The arrest of the elder Moore took place after government officers and sheriff's officers yesterday afternoon searched the premises of the King boys and the Moore family. They reported they found 13 bogus coins at the Moore home, three in the garage and 10 wrapped in paper in an old trunk and 19 at the King home. All had been secreted. The coins are of 50 cent denomination. The King home is at 67 West Eleventh street, in Buena Park.

Tiring of their efforts to tie up the gang with the holdup and beating of Charlie Gillis, on Lincoln avenue several days ago, the sheriff's office will this afternoon turn five men over to the United States government to stand trial for counterfeiting. They will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Milburn Harvey this afternoon, it was said.

The sixth man under arrest is Sam Landeborn, dairy worker, of Buena Park, who has not been connected with the counterfeiting activities, it was said. He is being held and will be tried on a charge of carrying firearms. He is an alien, which makes the offense a felony.

RE-ELECT NEWMAN CALAVO DIRECTOR

Carl V. Newman, Tustin rancher, yesterday was re-elected district director of the Calavo Growers' association at the district meeting which was held at the San Joaquin ranch, Tustin.

Many growers from Santa Ana, Orange, Tustin and San Juan Capistrano were present for the meeting and the luncheon served at noon at the ranch.

Production percentage of the best types of avocados is rapidly increasing, according to George B. Hodgkin, general manager of the association, who was present. From 59 per cent of the exchange's crop ranking as "calavos" through variety and quality standards in 1931, the 1932 season finds a gain to 63.6 per cent, indicating that standardization is rapidly taking place around the "calavo type" varieties, he said.

Tustin Class In Dinner At Church

TUSTIN, Jan. 5.—More than 85 members and friends of the Friendship Bible class of the Presbyterian church were present Tuesday evening to enjoy a 6:30 o'clock covered dish dinner in the banquet room of the church. Green candles and red berries decorated the long dining tables and a glittering Christmas tree stood at one end of the room.

Numbers on the program included a piano solo by Billy Leinberger; two vocal duets by Dickie Korff and Jean Matson, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Korff at the piano, and a reading by Mrs. Clarence A. Nisson. A brief business session was conducted by James B. Gorton, vice president of the class. The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair consisted of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gorton, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sharpless, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Korff and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nisson.

PLAN CONFERENCE
WINTERSBURG, Jan. 5.—The quarterly conference for the Wintersburg Methodist Episcopal church is being held Friday at 5 o'clock, with Dr. James A. Gelsinger, district superintendent, conducting the business session. Details of the building operations at the church will be decided at that time.

Politically Speaking

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—(UP)—

The 1933 session of the state legislature is under way.

The assembling of the lawmakers was a rather tame and drab affair, as contrasted to the colorful and festive ceremonies of 1931, when "Sunny Jim" Rolph, with his silk hat, black boots and white gardenia, was inaugurated as governor.

Governor Rolph was on the job this time, too, but instead of riding in parades and bowing to crowds, he was down in his corner office working out plans to keep the legislature carefully under control.

The executive's only bid for publicity was the radio broadcast of his message to the state legislature, giving an account of his stewardship for the last two years, and recommending a program to balance the budget.

Calls For Economy
As the legislative sessions started, Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance, issued another warning that drastic cuts in fixed and other charges must be made to avoid additional tax levies of $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 for the next two years.

"Solution of the threat of increased taxes will rest with the legislature and the people alone," said Vandegrift. "Unless the people are willing to get along with less government, there is no escape from an increased tax burden."

Assemblyman Clare Woolwine of Los Angeles came to the session with a plan to slash salaries of state officials. He would reduce the directors of finance and public works from $10,000 to $6000 a year; chief of the highway patrol and directors of all state departments to $5000 a year; three members industrial accident commission, $5000 to $4000; bank superintendent, $10,000 to $6,000; state corporation commissioner and state engineers, $7500 to $6000.

The 1934 campaign of Lieutenant Governor Frank F. Merriam to succeed James Rolph Jr. as governor is definitely in progress. Merriam-for-Governor pledge cards are being circulated throughout Southern California, binding the signers to work for this candidacy. The cards indicate that sectionalism will be an issue in this race, as Merriam stresses the fact that Southern California is entitled to a governor.

Political Gossip
The governor's pardons to violators of the Wright act were brought to 188 this week by the issuance of 13 more pardons to late applicants.

Frank Coombs of Napa, former dean of the assembly, has just celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday.

State Controller Ray L. Riley wasn't even ruffled when the Los Angeles bar association took a crack at him for naming Mrs. Helen M. Werner inheritance tax appraiser in Pasadena.

Pitiful letters are being received by legislators against the plan to raise the age limit for the old age pension to 75 years. That kind of lobbying is hard to beat.

Miss Eleanor Miller of Pasadena is now California's only woman member of the legislature.

WITNESSES SAY CAR ON WRONG SIDE OF ROAD

Efforts of the defense to shake testimony that Rolph Von Eckertsberg was driving on the wrong side of the highway at the time his car crashed into another last October, snuffing out the lives of three Orange High school students, have failed thus far in his trial.

Von Eckertsberg, said to be a member of the German nobility, is on trial before a jury in department two, superior court, charged with manslaughter. He is accused of having caused the death of Ronald Worden, Dorothy Hill, and Mark Leutzinger, on the night of October 21 when his automobile crashed into another driven by Edwin Johnson.

The three victims were passengers in the Johnson automobile. Seven witnesses beside Johnson had been called and the eighth was on the stand when court recessed at noon today. Johnson testified that he was driving his automobile on the right side of the road at a speed of approximately 25 miles per hour when the crash occurred. Seven of the other eight witnesses testified that the Von Eckertsberg automobile was on the wrong side of the highway when the crash occurred.

The eighth witness, Dr. Harry G. Huffman who examined the bodies after the crash testified as to the cause of the three deaths.

During the morning session of court today, Mrs. Estella Miller, who was awaiting a bus at the time of the accident and was a witness to the crash, testified that the Von Eckertsberg car was on the left side of the center line of the highway at the time of the accident. Ted Sweet, surgeon who removed the two wrecked automobiles after the accident testified that when he arrived both cars were on the right side of the highway. This testimony was substantiated by L. L.

Reynolds and Dr. C. C. Hatch, who live near the scene of the accident and were among the first to arrive after the crash. Both Reynolds and Hatch testified that the Von Eckertsberg car was on the wrong side of the highway when they arrived upon the scene.

One of the state's star witnesses yesterday was Vernon Backs, high school student who witnessed the crash. He testified that he was standing just inside an orange juice stand on Main street in Orange and saw the crash. He assisted in removing the bodies of the three dead students.

Backs said that the Von Eckertsberg automobile was on the wrong side of the center line of the highway at the time of the crash. He also testified that from the position of the bodies in the machine it was indicated that Leutzinger and Worden were riding in the rumble seat of the automobile at the time of the crash.

Miss Christine Glover, to whom Backs was talking at the time of the crash was on the witness stand at noon recess and had told practically the same story as Backs.

District Attorney S. B. Kaufman and Deputy District Attorney Leo B. Ellis expect to complete presentation of their evidence this afternoon.

ARREST BREA MAN ON DRIVING CHARGE

Roy Schoff, 38, well known Brea business man, was arrested late yesterday by L. H. Nicholson, deputy sheriff on a warrant from Riverside county. He was booked for failure to stop and render aid after an accident which occurred at Arlington.

Schoff was almost immediately released on bail of $500 which he posted for guarantee of his appearance in answer to the charge in Arlington. He expressed surprise at his arrest, explaining that the accident was an insignificant thing, his car bumping another machine. He said he stopped and reviewed the damage and seeing there was little if any, went on his way. He said a woman was driving the other car.

No one was hurt in the accident.

INSULT
Knowing ones wink here when you mention the insult extradition case.

The fact is getting around to those inside that nobody broke a leg trying to get the Illinois utilities ex-magistrate back for trial. That is partially substantiated by the fact that such a small nation would not have dared to defy the United States if we said militantly we wanted him.

It is also true that courts over there are more amenable to the softer things in life than ours are.

The idea was permitted to prevail in certain Greek diplomatic circles that the insult case was mixed in Chicago politics. The demand for this hide was particularly loud in our publicity megaphone just before the November election. The State Department apparently did little more than the usual routine in such matters after election.

Public utility interests will be satisfied. They have been badly irked by publicity over the insult smashup.

Also the legal strength of the case against insult was not exactly conclusive. At least that is the interpretation accepted by some of the best legal minds here who are not fully conversant with all the evidence now privately possessed by Chicago authorities.

"Complexion Curse"

She thought she was just unlucky when he called on her once—avoided her thereafter. But so one admires pimply, blemished skin. More and more women are realizing that pimples and blotches are often danger signals of decayed blood—poisonous wastes ravaging the system. Let NR (Nature's Remedy) afford complete, thorough elimination and promptly gain away beauty-ravaging poisons. Fine for sick headache, bilious conditions, dizziness. Try this safe, dependable, all-vegetable corrective. At all drug stores—only 25c.

NR TO-NIGHT

TARIFFS

On the 4. t. the French are sounding us out about making their debt payment in return for tariff concessions. That is what is behind stories out of Paris that the commercial treaty may be signed. The French are pressing that trade for all they are worth. The dickering will have to be done with Roosevelt.

Best British sources report that Britain is planning some new moves against our tariff, worse than the six cent duty on wheat milled here in transit. Announcement will be made shortly.

It appears that France and Britain are working together on that method of attack.

BEER

Behind this beer delay is sincere fear among wets that perhaps the idea may not be as good as they thought at first. They are not willing to confess it publicly yet. One said recently he would not dare to. Beer advocates in his district would murder him politically.

Nevertheless a feeling is there that perhaps beer will embarrass sincere wet efforts against prohibition. The 3.2 per cent brew would probably intoxicate some people. It depends on how accustomed to drinking a person is, also on his physical condition. The public reaction from activities of brewers also is doubtful. Likewise some think 3.2 beer might relieve agitation for repeal.

ALIGNMENTS

The leanings of Mr. Roosevelt so far behind and in front of the scenes have been strongly toward the idea of the West and South. His announcements thus far and the sounding-out activities of his best thinkers may have powerful political results. The last election showed the East is important only when the West and South split. Roosevelt carried the East, but did not need it. The movement for him came essentially from the West and South.

If he keeps those two sections for four years he need not worry further about re-election.

CABINET

Friends of Norman Davis will be disappointed if he is not made Secretary of State. They are already counting him in. They gained heart when Secretary of State Stimson went to New York to see him after Davis had seen Roosevelt. Stimson has said he would confer with his successor as soon as he knew who he was to be.

A very good source says Senator Glass has been offered the Treasuryship and has declined. He will not reconsider unless pressed strongly. His health is not good.

Labor pressure against selection of Frances Perkins as Labor Secretary has recently become so strong she may have to be discarded.

PROCEDURE
Those yarns about the Democrats going to fight Roosevelt on the sales tax were slightly off. They were due to a misunderstanding with Chairman Collier of the House Ways and Means Committee. He was largely responsible for the misunderstanding.

He intended to announce that the sales tax would be among ten methods to be considered by his committee. The way he said it led some to think that was to be the big business.

Both he and Floor Leader Rainey sometimes have trouble in making themselves clear.

CREDENTIALS

Some very prominent men have been among those trying to chisel their way into the inner Democratic circle here by posing as Roosevelt messengers. One of them even fooled Speaker Garner. He thought the fellow really came from Roosevelt. Embarrassing misunderstandings have been narrowly averted.

The Democratic leaders are becoming wary. They demand credentials from messengers now.

PREPARATION

Colonel House is not writing those magazine articles about "Do We Need a Dictator" and such for fun, for his health or because he needs money. He has plenty of all three.

The best informed Washington quarters believe Colonel House is trying to prepare the public mind for some strong Roosevelt policies which are in the making.

CIDER

When the Smith Cotton Bill came up in the Senate a certain Senator thought it was the beer bill. He arose and demanded in a loud voice that cider be included. It took three Senators five minutes to persuade him you could not put cider in a cotton bill.

The matter was eliminated from the Congressional Record.

NOTES

The most exclusive dinner in Washington is the one given each year by former secretaries of Supreme Court Justices. . . . Most of them are famous lawyers now. . . . Few here even knew there was such a dinner until Felix Frankfurter offered that explanation for his presence in town recently. . . . Certain lobbyists are bragging that the Allotment Plan is already as good as dead. . . . The meat packing interests may claim the victory if it stays dead, but it won't. . . . The leading topic in the longshore class is the magazine and radio activities of Gov. and Mrs. Roosevelt and his close associates. . . . The Hearst magazines have been particularly fortunate in securing such material.

DIRECTORS
Many a corporation director who thought he had a soft and honorable job is having nightmares over the Irving Trust's tremendous damage suit against the individual directors of International Match. There will be no polite settlements out of court in this case. The Irving means business and will press to the limit.

If the Irving wins no director in the country can feel safe. It will mean that directors can be held responsible for malfeasance by the management even though they had no personal knowledge of faulty accounting or other harmful acts.

Most of the defendants are men of unquestionable integrity and standing. Many of them accepted the job because they thought it an honor to be requested to assume such a post by a house of Higginson's standing. Their fault lay simply in accepting the management's word at its face value.

Whatever the outcome it is a cinch that Wall Street bigshots will be mighty careful about accepting "honorary" dictatorship in future.

LTAIN BONDS

There is a small group called Latin American Associates which has been making handsome money out of Latin bonds. It operates as an investment trust rather than as a protective committee—on a trust basis—many discouraged investors including banks. It deals only in dollar bonds of sovereign states—no subdivisions—but doesn't care particularly whether they are in default or not. Its success can be gauged by the fact that it has raised the value of its debentures from $1.00 par to $1.30 in the last eight months in spite of the weakness of the foreign bond market.

INFLATION

A group of Wall Street economists is working on a mild inflation plan which they expect to submit to the new Administration through sympathetic channels.

It calls for the Federal Government to take over home loan and farm mortgage maturing in the near future at the holders' option in exchange for ten year 2 per cent bonds issued by the Government. There would be a moratorium of five years before the debtors would have to begin amortization payments.

The idea is to relieve home and farm debtors of immediate pressure and to thaw out frozen bank collateral without issuing currency or incurring fresh government debt. The mortgage holders would sacrifice interest for liquidity. The inflationary effect is supposed to come from setting free purchasing power for spending purposes which would otherwise have to be saved for immediate mortgage payments.

Sponsors of the program are convinced that some kind of inflation to relieve debtors is on the way and hope that their plan will head off more violent schemes.

LABOR

New York is keen on the implications of the International Typographers Union's recent move. It voted itself a five-day week with the proviso that the money saved should be used to employ part-time workers now out of jobs.

Labor's initiative is significant. The proposition that their sacrifices must benefit their fellow workers instead of their employers' budgets may set an important new style in labor relations. Further developments along this line are expected. The Tories are bothered about it.

ROOSEVELTS
Friends of Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President-elect, do not expect to see much of her in Washington. She will probably be a guest of her brother Frederic Delano for inauguration. When asked about her plans she says: "My home will continue to be at Hyde Park. I shall no doubt make occasional visits to my son and to my brother, but shall certainly not move to Washington."

Intimates of the Roosevelts tell of unusually close family relationships. Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt has an unbreakable custom of going to greet her mother-in-law whenever both are in occupancy of the twin houses in Sixty-fifth street. Each morning before going out she visits Mrs. James Roosevelt. No crowded schedule is ever allowed to interfere.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

There is a strong movement afoot in Geneva to deprive Americans of their jobs. Arthur Sweetser was appointed head of the League's Information Bureau with the biggest number of protest votes ever recorded on such a question in the Council. Even then his term was limited to six months. The American members of the League staff, practically all of whom have done excellent work, will gradually be eliminated under the guise of economies.

BOLIVIAN WAR

Bankers report that our representatives in Berlin have informed the German government that the United States does not look with favor upon the activities of the German general Kuntz in the Bolivian-Paraguayan war. He manifests a striking disregard for international laws and conventions. We may very soon raise a strong protest on the score of arms smuggling, bombing of civilians, etc. So far Berlin politely but firmly declines all responsibility for her countrymen, this despite the fact that Kuntz on his recent visit to Berlin spent practically all of his time with von Schleicher.

HITLER

Even Mussolini seems to have his doubts about his ardent admirer Hitler. The latter and his friends are quite ill at ease over a remark which the Italian Dictator made to a Hitler emissary who proposed closer cooperation with the Fascists. He stated that after all both Hitler and Mussolini were the idols of their people. "Yes," said Mussolini, "I am the leader of my people, but Mr. Hitler is a saviour." The big question around Nazi headquarters is now whether this was a compliment or a crack.

Five Injured In La Habra Crash

LA HABRA, Jan. 5.—Alber Launer, city attorney of Fullerton, and his family, are recovering from injuries suffered when their car was struck by a hit and run driver at the corner of Fullerton road and Central avenue in La Habra this week.

The accident occurred about 6 p. m. when the Launers were returning from the Rose parade at Pasadena. They were proceeding south on Fullerton road and the driver of the car which struck theirs failed to make a boulevard stop at the intersection and crashed into the Launer car, turning it completely around and wrecking it. He then raced from the scene before witnesses could get his number.

Launer suffered a badly lacerated head and Kathryn and Jean Launer were cut about the head by flying glass. They were taken to the Fullerton hospital and later to their homes. Mrs. Launer and Leland escaped with minor bruises and shock.

HOOKS and SLIDES by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

During the holiday season a great deal of plain and fancy eating seems to be the vogue. If you have a feeling of fullness as you take a bite of a turkey leg, it's a sign that you are eating too much. Billy had to train hard to get his fighting weight down to the lightweight limit. He starved himself and cut down his drinking water to a couple of thimbles per day. He made the proper weight, 134½ pounds, on the day of his fight with Tony Canzone. And two days after that fight Billy Petroze, the same person, weighed 150 pounds.

LET HIM TELL IT

Here is the tale, as Billy tells it himself.

"It was the first fight I ever had that let me dog-tired after a while. I was too tired even to eat that night, and I went right to bed after having a glass of ale. After all of my other big fights I never could sleep, because the let-down always left me nervous. But that night I dropped off into a dead slumber.

"In the morning at 8 o'clock I had breakfast—cakes, bacon and eggs and milk. But at 11 I was hungry again. I had a full course spaghetti lunch, including soup and meat balls, and topped it off with good wine. At 3 o'clock I was hungry again. I had a big steak with all the side fixings. I thought surely that would carry me through the day, but at 7 o'clock I got hungry again and I tackled some more spaghetti.

"I went to bed early, but after a short nap I awoke and found myself hungry again. So about 2 o'clock I had a mess of stew. It seemed that my body simply craved wet foods.

GAINS 15 POUNDS

"Before leaving for the train that afternoon I stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at 150 pounds. I could hardly believe my eyes, but tested the scales as I had done dozens of times before and found them to be accurate.

"When I got on the train that night I had a steak dinner and retired early. By 10 o'clock I was up, coaxing a sandwich from the dining car steward. I was up early in the morning and had a substantial breakfast and had another spaghetti dinner upon reaching Chicago. I was finally fed up when I reached home in Duluth the next morning, and now I'm back to normal again."

And if that isn't eating, what is?

FAREWELL TO LEWELLEN

AFTER nine years of professional competition, Verne Lewellen of the Green Bay Packers announces his retirement. There is still a lot of good football in that 34-year-old frame, but Verne's best days are over, so he is quitting for good.

Lewellen must be written down among the immortals of football. For nine years he did practically all the kicking for the Packers. It was Lewellen who carried the ball over for touchdowns when the last few yards were needed. He ran back punts, called signals, ran interference—he could do all things well.

I remember a game with the Chicago Cardinals in 1928 when Lewellen punted out of bounds beyond the Cardinal 10-yard line eight times. And he was one of the finest ball carriers on back plays I have seen. He was adept at pivoting and reversing the field. He seldom failed to gain the needed ground in those back plays over tackle.

Lewellen played four years in high school and four more years at the University of Nebraska. He has kicked footballs in nearly 200 games. He must have battled the leather 50,000 yards. During his professional career he made 51 touchdowns. Now he returns to the little town in Nebraska where he will practice law and raise his two motherless children. His wife died about eight months ago.

For the last four years Lewellen has been district attorney of Brown county, but he was defeated in the Democratic landslide of November, and leaves office in January.

BIG DETROIT-YANKEE TRADE NEAR Expect 50 Candidates For Saint Track Team

ANNUAL CLASS CONTEST FIRST MEET OF YEAR

More than 50 candidates are expected to greet Coach "Chuck" Webber before Santa Ana high school swings into its second week of track and field work at Poly field Monday.

Twenty-two Saints, including 14 varsity performers, answered Webber's first call in Andrews gymnasium yesterday.

Heading the list of Class A men was Captain Floyd Montgomery, who probably will compete in the high jump, pole vault and discus. Art Strancke, shot put, discus and relay; Bruce Swishelm, 100 and 220-yard dashes and relay; and Major Anderson, 100 and 220-yard dashes and relay.

Other varsity candidates reporting were Charles Ortiz, 880 and mile; Ray Clark, hurdles, broad jump; Rodney Dresser, mile; Bruce Harnols, pole vault; Louie Holmes, 880; Otto Grigg, mile; Ray Walk-inshaw, pole vault; Don Evans, high jump, and Calvin Breeding, 880. Charles Downey and Preston McPadden, several of these Saints eligible for Class B work, may switch to the middleweight squad after the season opens.

Class B aspirants, few in number yesterday, were Russell Ramsdell, 100, broad jump; J. R. Bennett, 100, broad jump; Jack Hubbard, 660; Howard Heber, 660; Dick Crowl, 100; Dorsey Clayton, 100 and 220; and Henderson, field events. Ramsdell may compete for the varsity.

Basketball will detain such promising tracksters as Ernie Acker, shot put; Walt Hendrie, high hurdles; Weston Sprague, discus; Orville Clem, high jump; Bill Hawkins, hurdles, jumper and shot put; and Charles Meserve, hurdler.

Coach Webber has indicated that the first meet of the campaign will be the annual Saint inter-class affair, which may or may not be limited to novices. The Sophomores won last year. Webber has not set a date for the class meet but it probably will be held this month.

S. A. DRAWS HOME BALL GAME SUNDAY

A rearrangement of the Southern California Winter league baseball schedule will send Santa Ana's Hancock Oilers against the Valley Boulevard Merchants here Sunday. Manager Carl Ruecker announced today. Santa Ana had been listed to play Firestone Tires at Los Angeles.

The Valley Boulevard Merchants have taken over the franchise of Fox Fins. "Red" Frazier, their pitcher, has been signed by Cincinnati.

GLEASON'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—(INS)—Funeral services for William ("Kid") Gleason, coach of the Philadelphia Athletics who died here Monday night, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Robb, burial will be at Northwood cemetery.

The services will be attended by the entire Philadelphia team, including Manager Connie Mack, and John J. McGraw, former manager of the New York Giants and teammate of Gleason on the old Baltimore Orioles.

LOCEY NAMED WEST SHRINE GAME COACH

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Percy Locoy, Denver university coach, will succeed Dana Bible of Nebraska as co-coach of the West team in next year's Shrine East-West cricket classic.

Bruins Play Utah Oct. 6 Night Game

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Utah, Rocky Mountain conference football champions, meet on the gridiron here next October 6. Steve Cunningham, Bruin graduate manager, announced today.

It will be the first game between the two schools and will be played at night in Memorial coliseum.

'BABE' PATHETIC FIGURE AMONG BACK-SLAPPERS

BY HENRY M'LEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(UP)—I have just seen the most pathetic figure in the world. A girl who sits in a big hotel room, wistfully twisting a handkerchief in nervous fingers and secretly wishing she were back home in Texas.

She hates the interviews she has to give, under the goading of a wise-cracking, go-getting press agent. She despises the women reporters who flaunt their own cleverness in her face, and seek to dissect, probe and penetrate the secret recesses of her heart—in a species of feminine post-mortem.

She abominates the ballyhoo and the pretense of professionalism into which, unhappily, she has been forced.

She Wants To Be Lady

She wants to be everything that present circumstances, against her will, have prevented making her. She wants to be an amateur, and she is a professional.

She wants to be wholly, utterly feminine, a muscle-less lass, a rounded example of flapperdom, clothed in frilly fripperies. Instead she is comfortable and at ease only in the sweaty, stained working togs of an athlete. Her female interviewers, with their verbal scalpings, make the most of it.

I think "Babe" Didrikson could come closer to making her wants, her desires, her human longings articulate—if they'd let her. Instead, she is hedged in by circumstances—not the least of which are those persons, who, with their big talk of big money, influenced her to toss away her amateur standing.

She misses that standing and the myriad opportunities of offers for hand-to-hand competition down the stretch, over the hurdle and under the basket. She misses it already. There was melancholy in her voice, asked if she was glad she turned professional, she said, without enthusiasm: "I guess so. Everybody says it was the best thing."

Riches Sent Compensation

"Of course it was! You're on top of the world." This from her combination manager and press agent, and delivered in the best slap-on-the-back manner.

But you know she didn't believe him. You had only to talk with the lean, sun-parched Texas girl for minutes to know that money, need it though she may, never takes the place of competition. And that riches—if she gets them—will be scant compensation for the loss of such thrills as the sight of a javelin winging past the little white board that marks the record, that final, desperate surge in the 100, or a long looping shot that careens crazily around the rim of the basket and then—swishhhhhhh!—drops home.

And those things are behind her. To a large measure, anyway. Professional athletics for women is limited. So limited, in fact, as to be almost nil. And she knows this.

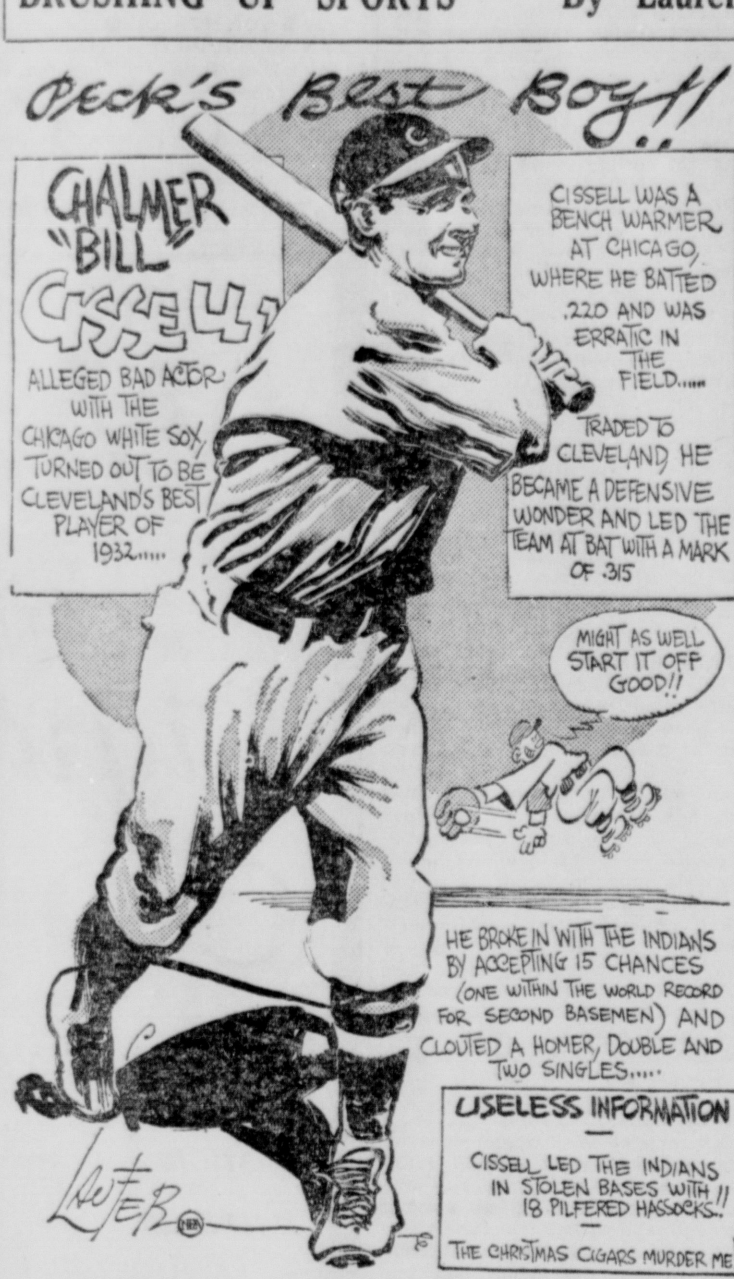

I think she knows, too, that this radio, film and syndicate writing business they've told her about isn't going to last long, and that next year, perhaps certainly by 1936 when the Olympics head for Berlin and the Olympic Games, "Babe" Didrikson, the greatest woman athlete of the age, will exist largely in the record books.

"BABE" CHALLENGES RUTH TO ROUND-ROBIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(INS)—Back from a shopping tour Monday night, Babe Ruth, who first evening gown, Mildred Didrikson, world's champion girl athlete, today issued a challenge to meet Babe Ruth, preferably, or any other male athlete who thinks he's good, in a round-robin of sports events. The stakes will be for fun or a side bet.

The feminine Babe suggests that the round-robin include tennis, billiards, swimming, diving, golf, time, sprinting, jumping, handball, and "just to give that fellow a chance, to win at least one event, I'll include throwing the baseball for distance."

GLEASON'S DEATH REAL LOSS

Passing of Veteran Recalls His Honesty and Courage

HE OUTSMARTED "BLACK SOX"

BY DAVID J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(INS)—They haven't been making them that way for a great many years now, the mould having been mislaid with the simple, rugged virtues of an earlier, more homely age, and now the original has died.

When Kid Gleason saw the last of this life as night drew on and the shadows gathered, he was less the loser than was life itself.

It cannot spare the Kid Gleasons. They are out of the almost legendary past; the man unafraid, carrying the old traditions forward through an uncomprehending age. They flourished at a time when romance ran high and gallantry was commonplace; so long ago, in fact, that when The Kid went across the line in Philadelphia Tuesday at the age of 67, I think it's altogether probable the race went with him.

He Was Man Above All

At the beginning a very good pitcher, he later became a very good second baseman and finally a very good manager and coach. And always he was a man. Compromises weren't in him, no evasions were possible. Tolerant and kindly toward others, he held himself to strict accountability and rigidly kept the score. At that, his was a deceptive mildness, particularly when crossed.

Of all the fighters baseball has most feared in a generation when men were supposed to be so tough they were virtuous as a mouth wash and brushed their teeth with a file. Around Philadelphia, they tell the story of how he once pushed his way through a pair of swinging doors and threw four men out of a Camden saloon. However, it seems that he was somewhat handicapped at the time. There were only four men in the saloon.

They tell a story over there, too, that furnishes even a higher tribute to The Kid because it deals with courage that was physical, but moral. The incident

POREDA NAMES HIMSELF AS NEXT HEAVYWEIGHT KINGPIN

DONS REGISTER IMPROVEMENT. WIN ON COURT

Starting the new year off right, Santa Ana Junior college's basketball team won its first non-conference game in Andrews gymnasium last night by unexpectedly outpointing the strong Inglewood Athletic club Aces, 51 to 30.

With the exception of two regulars, the visiting lineup was the same that outclassed Compton junior college a few days before the powerful Tartars annihilated Coach Bill Foote's Dons, 67 to 24.

At the request of Joe Kasser, giant center and acting captain of the Aces, 20-minute halves were eliminated in favor of 10-minute quarters, the end of each period finding Santa Ana safely in the lead, 12-8, 21-16, 32-23 and 51-30.

The Dons showed new life in the first two quarters, looked like a different team, but Inglewood, trailing by 8 points at the half, was inclined to four consistently in the final periods to turn the contest into a rather poor exhibition. In fact, both teams suffered a general let-down, and committed fouls that Coach Bill Cole of Tustin, the referee, knew would not occur in a league game.

Only two fouls, both by Inglewood, were committed in the first two quarters, but the ledger showed a total of 19 at the end of the battle. Of these Inglewood was charged with 14.

Henry Thier and Jack Stewart, Don forwards, and Inglewood's Kasser shared scoring honors, with 15 points each. All three made some sensational shots.

Provided they improve as consistently as they have in past drills, the Dons should be every bit as good as they were at the opening of the Orange Empire conference season last year. Harold Spangler at center, Alex Clark and Palmer Stoddard at guard were used with Thier and Stewart in a smooth-working combination at the start. Charles Lawson and Harold Welty, guards, looked especially good against the visitors, while Horace Rittner, Bill Bouldin, Ed Bragg and Jim Hall were up to their usual form.

The Lineup:

Santa Ana (51) (30) Inglewood Aces
Thier (15) F. (7) O'Connor
Stewart (15) F. (16) Simms
Spangler (15) F. (15) Kasser
Clark (3) G. (2) Jolley
Stoddard (3) G. (2) Jolley
Substitutes:
Santa Ana—Bouldin (4) for Thier, Bragg for Stewart, Rittner (2) for Spangler, Lawson (1) for Clark, Welty (4) for P. Stoddard, Hall (1) for Lawson, Homan (1) for Welty, Clark (1) for Stoddard, Lawson for Clark, Stewart for Bragg, Higashi for Stewart.
Inglewood Aces—Vickers for Nase, Nase for Vickers for O'Connor.

Sharkey Puzzled As Jack Dempsey Sends Him Roses

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(INS)—Jack Sharkey, enroute today to Bermuda on a vacation, was still puzzling over a huge basket of flowers sent aboard at sailing time. They bore the card of Jack Dempsey, the present champion's ancient enemy.

"Are some of you wise guys trying to kid me?" Sharkey demanded of the press. Later he was convinced Dempsey really had sent the posies, but couldn't figure out the reason.

Stanford Board Names New Mentor Tonight

PALO ALTO, Jan. 5.—(UP)—"Tiny" Thornhill, lone coach at Stanford for the past 11 years, was expected to be named head football coach to succeed "Pop" Warner by the board of athletic control tonight.

Although "Clipper" Smith, coach at Santa Clara, has been prominently mentioned for the post, Stanford's desire to continue the Warner system was believed to assure Thornhill's appointment. Smith is a former Notre Dame star.

Since Warner resigned to become head coach at Temple university, members of the board have sought the opinions of alumni leaders before agreeing on a new coach.

It was learned definitely that Thornhill, if appointed, will have Ernie Nevers, Stanford's famous fullback of 1925, as first assistant coach.

WARD TO HEAD CITY'S TENNIS PLAYERS AGAIN

G. Gilmore Ward, secretary of the Barr Lumber company, will lead the Santa Ana Tennis club as president again this year.

He was re-elected when the organization held its annual meeting at Frances Willard junior high school last night.

Josephine Cruickshank, well known local player, was named vice president; John Cress, secretary and Eugene Robinson, treasurer.

Reviewing the past year, most successful of all Santa Ana tennis seasons, President Ward stated that the club promoted 22 tournaments, 11 of which were open to non-club players. Increased interest has been manifest in city tennis, it was pointed out, through the energetic activities of the organization.

Four tournaments will be instituted this month. The first is set for January 14 between the club's juniors and Anaheim; the second January 21 when an open singles event will be held for Santa Ana boys under 16, and the third and fourth January 29 at which time the men's and mixed doubles championships of Orange county will be determined.

WALKER, BYRD DUE TO FIGURE IN DEAL. BELIEF

BY FRANK O'NEILL (I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(INS)—The rubber band is off the Rupert bank roll again and the master of the Yankees is shopping around for ball players. Within 24 hours—perhaps before sundown—we may expect an announcement of a deal that will send one or more of the Yankees into the Middle West in exchange for an outfielder and maybe a pitcher.

Cousin Robert Grant Barrow spent more than two hours on the long distance telephone recently, and he wasn't talking about the weather. The hush of this writer is that the Yankees are ready to talk turkey with the Detroit Tigers.

Barrow and Frank J. Navin talked during the major league meetings in this city last month, and "Buckey" Harris cooed his siren songs into the ears of Joseph Vincent McCarthy.

Detroit wants Sam Byrd, relief pitcher of the Yankees. As a matter of fact, Barrow wanted to make a trade last year, offering Dale Alexander and Roy Johnson, the Swedish-Indian outfielder in exchange for the Birmingham bomber. At the time, however, Byrd was going great guns and McCarthy refused to consider any trade involving him. Hoeg was mentioned, but the Yankees were trying to get Hoeg over to Newark, so that fell through.

If Detroit is the party of the second part, we may expect to see Gerry Walker, hard-slugging outfielder, come barging into New York. It is definitely known that the Tigers were willing to trade Walker last year. Not only does Walker slug that ball, but he ranked second to Chapman as a base stealer last year. The would be a sweet combination for speed and larceny in the American league.

At least two clubs have made efforts to relieve the Yankees of Ben Chapman's contract, but McCarthy has steadfastly refused to allow the young left-fielder to figure in his deals. McCarthy contends that Chapman is a greatly improved kid with his best years before him. Chapple's great speed and daring on the

USE OF MANURE ON VEGETABLE SOIL IS URGED

BY ERIC E. EASTMAN
Assistant Farm Advisor

Production costs for the coming season's vegetable crops can be materially reduced by the liberal application of manure at this time. The unit price for all manures and sods is lower at the present time than it has been for many years and growers who have neglected to provide for the maintenance of the organic matter, or, in some cases, in their soils are especially urged to take advantage of the low prices.

The application of large amounts of manure at this time will greatly lessen the need for expensive commercial fertilizers during the spring and summer. In some cases this will be all the fertilizer required. For early planted vegetables, however, some quick-acting nitrogenous fertilizer, such as ammonium sulphate, nitrate of lime or nitrate of soda is desirable to force the growth until the soil becomes sufficiently warm to aerated to render the nitrogen in the manure and other soil sources available in sufficient quantities to meet the demands of the growing crop.

In computing the value of the different manures, the cost per unit of nitrogen should be used as a guide. Unless the actual percentage of nitrogen is quoted, the following figures may be used: Dairy 0.6 per cent; steer or very high grade cow manure, 1.0 per cent; poultry, 1.5 per cent; hog, 0.8 per cent; sheep, 1.6 per cent; rabbit, 2.0 per cent; horse, 1.6 per cent. Expressed in pounds per ton of manure these percentages would give the following amounts: Dairy, 12 pounds; steer, 20; poultry, 30; hog, 16; sheep, 32; rabbit, 40; and horse, 32. Divide the price per ton by the above number of pounds and the result is the cost per pound of nitrogen. If the manure is offered for sale by the cubic foot, figure 50 feet per ton as the manure is probably fairly wet at this season. If very wet, use 40 feet; and if very dry, use 60 feet as the measure of a ton. If the nitrogen is quoted as ammonia, divide the percentage given by 1.2 to get the per cent of nitrogen, as the chemical addition of hydrogen makes ammonia weigh 1.2 times as much as nitrogen alone.

Mona Moran who supports her mother, invalid father, little sister, Kitty, and ne'er-do-well brother, Bud, is determined to marry for wealth and position. She is a receptionist for a Wall Street law firm and in the office sees men of the world to which she aspires.

Mona's brother announces that her childhood sweetheart, Steve Saccarelli, grandson of the ice and coal dealer, has returned home. Steve disappeared three years earlier and it was rumored he was in prison though Mona never believed this.

She meets him on her way to work one morning. Steve is handsome, well dressed and well mannered. Mona does not wish to renew the friendship but accepts his invitation to dinner. Later in the day she meets Barry Townsend, rich and socially prominent.

The truth about Steve is that he had been involved with gangsters three years earlier but broke with them and has gone straight since. With no thought of impropriety but wanting Mona to look her prettiest, he buys her a gown and wrap. She finds them in her room that night and finally decides to wear them. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI

Steve had pressed the bell three times, paused and then twice more. His old signal. He sat in the lean, low-slung car, gloved fingers drumming on its wheel and hummed softly. His eyes were intent on the dark, dingy little entrance of the apartment house.

He had not parked immediately in front of the door. Mrs. Casey's window commanded too fine a view of the entrance. Too fine a view of "that Wop, Steve in a big car, sitting there for all the world like a swell."

There was a dim light in the hall. The door opened, closed softly and swiftly. Steve could see the narrowing crack of light vanish above someone's head. Only Mona's hair could gleam with such a halo! He must learn to call her Mona now.

As she came into view, the glow of the street light touching her gently, he almost gasped. This childhood pal of his was beautiful! She was more than that. The girl who came toward him was regal, her head smartly smooth, her high fur collar white as drifted snow, her carriage gracious.

Mona, moving toward him in that silent street, might have been a young queen. "Get out of sight and car shot," she whispered when Steve was about to swing out of his seat to assist her. She climbed swiftly in beside him.

"Now drive like the fiend you are and let's cheat the Caseys! I'm planning to tell you what I think of a young man who sends articles of attire to his young women friends."

The car glided forward but Steve's eyes were on Mona. He approved of her. Three years before she would have said "gentlemen" and "lady friends."

"Well, you liked them, didn't you?" Steve asked. "You looked like a million dollars as you came through that door. 'Steve,' I say to myself, 'is it Gloria Swanson? No. It's only that homely Moran girl!'"

Mona laughed in spite of herself. It had occurred to her that since she was wearing the gown Steve had sent she could hardly be harsh with him. She should have sent them back with a reproving note.

"I feel like a million," she acknowledged. "Maybe I looked it, but the door didn't. Steve. Nothing like it. And I belong behind that door. I'm only playing Cinderella tonight because—well, because I thought it would please you."

"It does please me," returned Steve sincerely. "It so happened," Mona went on precisely as though he had not spoken, "that Mother had sent my one and only evening gown to Alice. She married Jim Halliday you know, and lives up in the Dyckman section. I wore these because I had to, but they'll go back tomorrow."

"After you've worn them?" Steve asked, a twinkle in his eye, yet with mock severity.

Mona smiled serenely. "You should see the prayer books and theater programs we've pulled out of the men they passed, the speculative, envious glances of the women were no new experience for Mona but they gratified her escort. Their table was near the space clear—"or dancin'" Mona tossed the priceless cloak from her shoulder and emerged like a sea nymph in her sea green frock.

"Like it?" asked Mona boldly as Steve's eyes registered the answer to her query. She went on, "Little thing I picked up this afternoon. Picked up in my room where it had no—business—to—be!" She emphasized the last four words with little stabs of her finger in the air. She was flirting with him! It was safe enough here where he could not kiss her again, Steve's eyes, however, turned away and searched the room speculatively. "I'm expecting my partner," he explained. Steve stopped short. "Great Guns, look who's here!" he exclaimed. (To Be Continued)

Steve did not reply immediately. Then he laid a gloved hand over her own and spoke softly.

"Listen, Hon. Remember the Christmases when all I gave you was a candy box with holly on it or some 10 cent store perfume? Well, those days are over and I'm making up for it. Today (he could not quite keep pride out of his voice) those duds you're wearing don't mean any more to me than the pound of candy did in other days."

"But it's the spirit of the thing, the spirit behind the box of candy, Steve. It isn't the cost."

"Okay. Then it's the spirit behind that handful of clothes and not their value. So that's that!" It was not that at all but Mona decided on silence. She'd take the clothes back tomorrow and with Lottie's help see that they were received.

"I knew you'd feel—well, just right—in any rig Pilgrim picked for you. We almost had every dress in the place on the model before I found just the right one!"

"You went yourself, Steve? Did you see Lottie?"

But Lottie had not been in evidence. Probably she was resting up for tonight's date. Frequently Lottie strained her long connection with Pilgrim's to what Mona thought must be near the breaking point.

It was just as well that Steve hadn't seen her. Lottie had liked Steve even when he was penniless. Now that he was apparently wealthy she might make a play for him. Mona thought, smiling a little, that nothing would endear Steve to her quite so much as Lottie's making that play.

A shaft of jealousy shot through her and she laughed again. Jealous! Did that mean she was falling for old Steve and abandoning her plan to marry a man of wealth and position? Someone like Barry Townsend?

They were owing through the park now, driving slowly, and Mona enjoyed it. Too often she had walked (for lack of carfare), through that same park. It was luxury indeed to ride thus in costly furs, beside a handsome young man in such a car.

"I want to take you where we can have dinner and dance. I want to take you to the best night club in town. I'm so sick of loneliness and heat I can't see straight. I—"

"New York is full of girls, Steve," Mona tried to make her voice discouraging.

"It's not full of girls like you!"

Suddenly he put his arm about her—they were in a deserted section of the park—and drew her to him. He kissed her, kissed her again and again.

"When I think of you working so hard, and that brother of yours not helping—" Steve's voice was trembling. "Lord, Min, I've been making money! Let me stand behind you if you need me. It must be tough going, Min, lots of times. Most of the time."

Mona thought of the rent, the insurance, her father's small fee at the hospital, the quarters Bud borrowed and the bills handled every Saturday to Ma who stretched them somehow to last through the week. She thought of days when she had gone without lunch, pretending she had gained two pounds the week before and was fasting to keep slim.

Then she thought of the emerald cloak she was wearing. She thought of what Mrs. Casey would say to Mrs. Callahan if she caught sight of it. And she thought of Steve's kisses.

She could not admit—even to Steve to kiss her. No, she had merely endured those caresses. Steve's sincerity was unmistakable. It would have been cheap to take offense. He was her childhood friend and, as in the old days he had brought her apples or oranges, now he was sharing his good fortune with her. Still it wasn't to be thought that this could lead to anything more serious. She wouldn't spoil his evening by telling him that now, though.

Steve's eyes were fastened on the strip of asphalt ahead, the glittering panorama of the city, the pyramids of lighted dots reaching into the sky. The car swerved, veered again, and plunged down another highway toward Columbus Circle.

Dexterously Steve swung the car between a pile of cobblestones and a rope hung with red lights. Then Broadway, gloomy in the automobile section but bright and garish in the lower forties.

He said, "I am going to take you to the Halcyon Club."

Mona knew the Halcyon Club. It had opened recently and was at the moment one of New York's most advertised supper clubs. The music was the best, the dance floor excellent, and the food (incredible for a night club!) appetizing.

They left the car in the shadows of the side street into which Steve had guided it and walked the few yards to the supper club door. The doorman recognized Steve and answered his greeting effusively, springing to hold the swinging doors apart.

Mona and Steve walked down thickly carpeted steps into the tiny foyer lined with mirrors. Then through more swinging doors toward the insinuating murmurs of the orchestra.

It was easy to see that Steve was delighted to be able to bring Mona here. The admiring glances of the men they passed, the speculative, envious glances of the women were no new experience for Mona but they gratified her escort. Their table was near the space clear—"or dancin'" Mona tossed the priceless cloak from her shoulder and emerged like a sea nymph in her sea green frock.

SANTA ANA BOOSTER BODY NOW WORKING ON MORE PROJECTS THAN ANY TIME SINCE 1929

More projects are now under way in the chamber of commerce program for 1933 than there have been since the year 1929, according to a statement made today by Secretary George A. Raymer. "There is a growing feeling," he said, "that the depression has hit bottom and that we are on the road back to prosperity."

Following is a partial outline of the projects which are being furthered by the local chamber, as outlined by Secretary Raymer:

State Armory
"Perhaps one of the chief undertakings of the chamber is that of securing for Santa Ana a state armory building. Recently, Adjutant General Howard was a guest of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and we were informed that he had put $50,000 into his 1933 budget for a state armory building. This budget will have to have the approval of the state legislature. The committee on the armory was very optimistic when it was informed by Assemblymen Craig and Utt and Senator Edwards that they would give the measure their unqualified support."

Veterans' Hospital
"There is an active chamber of commerce committee engaged in an endeavor to secure the location of the United States Veterans' hospital for nervous diseases at Corona del Mar just at the foot of Newport Bay. Some encouragement has been received from Dr. E. M. Brady, who is chairman of the site committee. In the near future, the chamber of commerce will be privileged to entertain the twenty-one members of the site committee, who will further investigate Orange county's proposed hospital site at Corona del Mar."

Safety
The safety committee is planning a very extensive campaign because of the fact that there has been such a tremendous loss of life by automobile accidents during the year, 1932. An outline of their program of activity will be announced later.

Tax Reduction
"Inasmuch as property taxes have increased to a point, where in some instances, they exceed the rental value of the land and many small home owners have been forced to borrow money to pay their taxes or permit them to become delinquent, it has been deemed the part of wisdom that the chamber of commerce appoint an efficient

Tustin W. C. T. U. Program Jan. 13

TUSTIN, Jan. 5.—"Medical Temperance" will be the subject discussed by Mrs. Kate C. Pbel at the regular meeting of the Tustin W. C. T. U. to be held at 2:30 o'clock, January 13 in the parlor of the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. Helen Finley, president, announced today. Mrs. J. O. Preble is in charge of the musical numbers.

SECRET SERVICE STORIES TOLD PEACE OFFICERS

Stories concerning the secret service of the United States government were told last night to the members of the Orange County Peace Officers' association, by Captain John Wilkie, famous detective and former government agent, soldier and more recently radio entertainer.

The meeting of the peace officers was held at the American Legion hall on Birch street and started with a dinner, served at 6:20 p.m. Some 200 persons were present, which included a large number of guests.

Captain Wilkie kept his hearers spellbound with two stories, one concerning work done by the secret service during the war, the other concerning the running down of a gang of counterfeiters at Lancaster Pa., a number of years ago, who had plotted to loot the entire government treasury by substituting counterfeit notes.

He surprised a number of persons present by informing them that there were very few secret service men in the nation and that the secret service department had only two duties. First, guarding the president and other high officials, and second running down counterfeiters. Any government officer may be taken for a secret service man, he said, but only these two duties named are paid for by the government secret service.

Many times secret service men are loaned to other departments for their services when this is done he declared, and that is why any federal officer may be a secret service man, he explained.

He pointed out that 98 per cent of the persons arrested by the secret service were convicted, a record the department has long been proud of and which is equalled nowhere else in the government.

To Elect Officers
Announcement was made by Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson, of Newport Beach, president of the association that the regular election of officers for 1933 would be held at the next meeting of the association on the first Wednesday in February. The meeting will be held in Tustin with John Stanton, chief of police, as host. C. W. Wolford, chairman of a committee, reported that his committee recommended that dues for honorary members of the association be cut from $10 to $4 per year. The suggestion was not acted on last night.

A number of prominent guests were introduced last night by Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, who ably acted as toastmaster for the occasion. These included: Paul Wilmer, mayor of Santa Ana; J. L. McBride and E. G. Warner, city council members; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burke; Le Roy Lyon and William C. Jerome, new members of the county board of supervisors; District Attorney and Mrs. S. B. Kaufman, Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth Morrison, Prof. and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Earl Morrow and A. Cavalli. Mr. Cavalli is a personal friend of Captain Wilkie of 20 years standing and was instrumental in bringing him to Santa Ana for his address.

Entertainment was furnished by the orchestra of the unemployed, George Stinson, the "Singing Cop" and the junior college quartet.

On the program. All members and friends of the union are urged to attend this meeting.

DOCTORS AND WIVES INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

Newly elected officers of the Orange County Medical society were installed at a dinner meeting in the Santa Ana Country club-house Tuesday night.

The meeting was held jointly with the auxiliary of the Orange County Medical society, members of which are wives of the society members. There were 84 present at the dinner meeting.

Frank A. Henderson, Santa Ana city superintendent of schools, was scheduled as the guest speaker. He was unable to appear, however, and sent Baxter Goetting, public speaking instructor, as his substitute. Goetting gave a number of entertaining readings.

Other brief addresses were made by Mrs. E. E. Coulter of Santa Ana, state president of the auxiliary; by Mrs. Dexter R. Ball, retiring president of the county auxiliary; and by Mrs. C. S. O'Toole of Anaheim, incoming auxiliary president.

Dr. J. L. Maroon, retiring president of the society, delivered an address on the subject, "The Specialist."

Dr. H. D. Newkirk of Anaheim acted as toastmaster and installing officer. He installed the following new officers of the society: Dr. W. S. Wallace of Orange, president; Dr. Harry G. Huffman, of Santa Ana, vice president; Dr. Waldo Wehrly, of Santa Ana, secretary; Dr. C. D. Ball, of Santa Ana, librarian; Dr. J. M. Buehler, Dr. Dexter R. Ball of Santa Ana, and Dr. P. H. Gobar of Fullerton, members of the board of managers.

Music was furnished for the occasion by an instrumental trio composed of Georgia Bell Walton, Eddie Burns and Ruth Armstrong.

$50,000 VALUE IS PLACED ON HUSBAND'S LOVE

Mary E. Pritchard values her husband's love and companionship at $50,000, and because she claims, in an action filed in superior court yesterday, that Pauline Rutledge Cain alienated the affections of her husband, Walter E. Pritchard, she is seeking that amount for damages.

Walter and Mary Pritchard were married on October 8, 1930, according to information set out in the complaint, and lived together happily until Pauline Cain set out to win the love of her husband, "unlawfully, willingly and maliciously."

Pauline Cain bestowed upon Walter Pritchard her attentions and affections, together with gifts and money, to deprive Mary of the companionship of her husband, the complaint stated, and to destroy Walter's affection for her through Pauline Cain's enticements.

Walter Pritchard left his wife on November 15, according to the complaint, with no cause, and two weeks later Pauline Cain moved to Los Angeles, where Walter is claimed to have joined her and to have been constantly in her company, the complaint sets forth.

A. Brock, agricultural commissioner, Orange county; January 14, "Methods of Applying Fertilizer for Best Results," A. G. Salter, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

62 YEAR OLD ORANGE GROVE EAST OF ANAHEIM IS STILL PRODUCING MARKETABLE FRUIT

Giving proof of the bearing age of orange trees, George Griffith of Placentia avenue, several miles east of Anaheim, points with pride to the few acres of orange trees on his property that are sixty-two years old and are still producing marketable fruit.

Back in 1871, the same year as the Chicago fire, as the descendants of the original owner, Leonard Parker, recall, 200 acres of unimproved land was taken up near Anaheim and four acres of seedlings were planted. In 1888 there were 3000 orange trees and 5000 boxes of fruit were being produced. Some years later a record was broken when 31 field boxes of oranges were taken off one tree and sent to the Orangefloropae packinghouse in Fullerton.

When Leonard Parker took up his claim soon after reaching California in 1870 from Boston, New York, his former home, he cleared out the cactus and sagebrush that covered his acreage and bought seedlings at $5 apiece. His orange grove was the first in the locality, the pioneer of the surrounding district having just begun to discover that the soil and climate were not conducive to producing lasting vineyards as the old German settlers had envisioned.

Twenty years ago the trees were retopped and valencias were grafted in. Many of the trees have been dug up since then and replaced and a few have become infected with acaly bark but there are numerous ones of the original grove still producing.

While the original ranch was 200 acres, the present rambling, low roofed Spanish home, spacious lawn and 60-year-old pepper and sycamore trees, together with a few acres of oranges, cover only eight and one-half acres.

The old orchard has changed owners numerous times, for at the death of the original owner, Leonard Parker, the property went to his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sims Tucker. When it left their hands it was incorporated into a Fullerton Land company holding and was then sold to R. L. Chambers. The next owner was Dr. J. H. Swann of La Habra Heights, who in turn sold it several years ago to George Griffith, who is now the sole owner.

PLAN CHANGES IN TRUST DEED LAW OF STATE

Santa Ana property owners who borrow money on trust deeds will be given added protection under terms of a bill aimed particularly at the misuse of trust deeds or mortgages, to be introduced in the legislature by Senator J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles.

According to Senator McKinley, his bill includes the following corrective features:

1. It effectively presents the taking of excessive deficiency judgments.
2. Adequate notice is provided to all persons entitled to the information.
3. Loans may be reinstated by paying installments or interest actually in default.
4. Lenders will not be able to satisfy their debt from other property of the debtor until they have completed the sale under a deed of trust.
5. It will be unlawful to bring action for deficiency judgments after a limited period.

Senator McKinley pointed out that in giving protection to the borrower the proposal in no way restricts the flow of available real estate loan funds, an additional protection for those facing the question of refinancing.

BIRTHDAYS OBSERVED
LA HABRA, Jan. 4.—Mrs. R. E. Launer entertained with a dinner recently, honoring Mr. Launer and Jack Jardine on their birthday anniversaries. Mr. Launer's birthday was on the 31st and Mr. Jardine's on the first. A bowl of red rosebuds centered the dining table and places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jardine and Betty and Mr. and Mrs. Launer, Raymond and Jimmie. A theater party was enjoyed following the dinner.

Peculiarities of Jade Detailed to Club by Woman Authority

Ebbl Juniors were initiated into the mysteries of Chinese jade by a thoroughly agreeable process Tuesday evening when they assembled in Ebbl lounge to undergo the pleasant ordeal at the hands of Mary Fernis Swan of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Swan drew upon 15 years of intimate acquaintance with the Chinese people in presenting her material, and jade pieces, rivaling each other in curiosity of color and design, were passed from hand to hand among her audience as Mrs. Swan described the extraordinary variations to be found among jade stones, and detailed the equally various usages to which the Chinese put them.

The translucency, color and musical quality of jade are characteristics which the speaker declared appeal particularly to the Chinese, and interesting stories were woven into her talk with reference to the rites of worship, of burial and of other solemn observances in which these valuable stones play significant part.

Other matter equally novel to her audience concerned the source of the finest Chinese jade, which she declared to be Burma, and preferably from the bed of the Irrawaddy, and the annual auction in Canton, where jade is sold, eight unseen, a gambling factor which she cited as contributing to the stone's costliness. In this respect she further stated that the Chinese merchants' profit actually is regulated by powerful guilds controlling the output of jade.

Miss Mary Swan, daughter of the speaker, appeared at the program's close with a variety of Chinese confections which she served, with tea, to club members. Various Ebbl Juniors, attired in Chinese mandarin coats loaned by Miss Wilma Plavan, assisted Miss Swan and Miss Mary Safley, social chairman, during this hour of reception.

Judge Georgia Bullock, prominent Los Angeles jurist, will address the society in February, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Robert S. Wade, president.

Philanthropic topics occupied members following reports from Mrs. Raymond Harris, on club donations to the Orange County Health camp; by Miss Eleanor Crookshank, on the recent Day Nursery party; by Mrs. Wade, concerning the Publicity Writing section, to meet the four Mondays in January with Mrs. Aubrey Glines, 1804 Greenleaf; and regarding the next Music and Drama section meeting, at which Victor Rees of Anaheim will speak on "Ibsen" and music will be provided by Georgia Belle Walton.

Nowotny's Home From Holiday Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin F. Nowotny and children, Raymond and Billy, returned Monday night from New Braunfels, Tex., where they have been enjoying a reunion with relatives during the holiday period. Born in New Braunfels and resided there until moving to California 24 years ago. While the visit reunited the Santa Ana couple with Mrs. Nowotny's mother, Mrs. John Riley, and with relatives of both residing in that city and community, it marked the first trip to Texas for the Nowotny children. The Santa Ana family has been gone since December 17.

Accompanying them in another automobile were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tausch of Anaheim.

Sewing Club Meets In Garden Grove

Chat and Sew club members were entertained Tuesday night in Garden Grove, with Mrs. Harvey Emley as hostess in her home there. The early evening hours were passed informally while members sewed and chatted. A dainty appointed menu was served to conclude the affair.

Those present were Mesdames Oliver Wickensheim, J. T. McInnis, Vern O. Este, Alfred Moyaugh, Carl Pister, Earl Wood, Jr., Iren Frevert and Miss Edna Case of Orange; Mesdames Ruth Riegle, Theo. Nalle, Fred Noidell and Dale Griggs of Santa Ana; Mrs. Enley Campbell and the hostess, Mrs. Emley, of Garden Grove.

January Bride-elect Is Crystal Shower Honoree

Miss Doris Rimel, whose marriage to Forest ("Cotton") Bennett is to be an event of this month, was honored guest at a charming affair given recently by Miss Dorothy Dunbar, who entertained at her home, 1117 South Carnegie street. Her mother, Mrs. C. C. Dunbar, assisted throughout the evening.

Bride games were introduced soon after guests' arrival. Attractive prizes were won by Miss Lucille Howell and Miss Helen Demetriou, who scored first and second high. It was at the close of the card contest that Miss Rimel was escorted to the dining room, where the table had been heaped high with daintily wrapped packages. They proved to contain topaz crystal in a handsome pattern. Suspended over the pile of gifts was a parasol of pink rose petals whose ribbon streamers showered a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Guests returned to the card tables to find pretty linens centered with miniatures parasols to which nut cups were attached. A pink theme was observed in all decorative details, as well as the delicious menu itself.

Miss Rimel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rimel, 881 South Ross street, and her engagement to Mr. Bennett was announced at a lovely party given in their home late in 1932.

Those invited to the shower affair were the honoree, Miss Rimel, her mother and aunt, Mrs. A. W. Rimel and Miss Lucie Rimel; the Misses Helen Demetriou, Lucille Howell, Virginia McKee, Maybelle Johnston, Eunice Bright, Kathryn Sexton, Maxine Decker, Edna Hall, Betty Purdie, Anabel McFadden, May Hasenjaeger and Mrs. Arthur Gallespie of this city; the Misses June Rimel and Charlotte Eader of Huntington Beach; Beverly Nichols of Pasadena and the hostesses, Miss Dunbar and Mrs. Dunbar.

Sorority Entertained In Laguna Beach

Sigma Theta sorority members were entertained by their new member, Miss Marjorie Burns, on Friday of last week in her home at Laguna Beach. After spending some time on the beach, the group returned to the Burns home to find a delicious dinner in readiness. Mr. and Mrs. Burns assisted their daughter in entertaining.

Those present were the Misses Virginia Bailey, Frances Bowman, Rachel Lamb, Georgina Irvin, Marquerite Lentz, Corinne Lecrain, Elma McBride, Ruth Owens, Bernice Rathbun, Doris Rohrbacher, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup, Betty Smith, Jean Silver, Loretta Spangler, Helen Spangler, Helen Stauffer, Frances Vieira, Martha Wallingford, Betty Wiswall, Eleanor Yount and the hostess, Miss Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Erickson of 1815 Cypress street have been entertaining in their home Lieutenant and Mrs. Lewis P. Harris of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Atwood, 216 South Shelton street, have been entertaining over the holidays. Mr. Atwood's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Atwood and daughter, Betty, of Ventura; Mrs. Atwood's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grodler and daughter, Barbara Jean, of San Bernardino; and Mrs. and Mrs. Gaylord Helms of Los Angeles.

Earl "Tex" Harris, Santa Ana Junior college football star, has returned from Abilene, Tex., where he enjoyed a holiday reunion with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Isherwood have as guests in their home, 719 East Walnut street, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Bernier and sons, Thomas and Charles, of Garden Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott and family of Belvedere Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon Jr., Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Miss Constance Cruickshank and Frank Lansdown comprised a party motoring to Claremont last evening to attend a performance of a mystery play, "Remote Control," given by the Claremont Players in The Little Theater of Padua Hills. Miss Sherrill Spurgeon, daughter of the Santa Ana couple and now a senior at Scripps college, joined the party in Claremont. A brief visit with Mrs. Spurgeon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Abbott, in Pomona, preceded the trip home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Kelly, Lemon Heights, spent a few days recently at Palm Springs, where they stopped at Desert Inn.

Mrs. Elizabeth Warren and Miss Emily Cox of this city, with Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess and Mrs. Minnie Neville of Orange, returned yesterday from Los Angeles, where they had been in attendance at the W. C. T. U. state officials meetings.

Post-Holiday Function Presented at Pacific Coast Club

Matching her pre-holiday hospitality with a second bridge luncheon of distinct charm given yesterday at a post-holiday event, Mrs. Cotton Mather received a dozen guests at Pacific Coast club, Long Beach, where luncheon was followed by an afternoon of cards.

In presenting the first of the duo of parties, Mrs. Mather entertained just in advance of the holidays in her charming home, 2922 North Ross street, where the card game was followed by a suggested by home and table decorations. Auction bridge was played at this time, with guests grouped around four tables. Mrs. Alvin Nowotny scored high, to be rewarded with first prize, while Mrs. William J. Stauffer received second award and Mrs. Frank Hoffman, third.

At this initial event, Mrs. Mather had as her guests, Dr. Mary E. Wright, Mesdames Ashley Turner of Fullerton, Gilbert P. Campbell, William Stauffer, Roy Brown, Theo. A. Winbiger, Charles D. Brown, Alvin Nowotny, Asa Hoffman, Charles O. Norton, A. N. Zerman, W. E. Winslow, Frank Hoffman, G. Emmett Raitt, Edward Cantlay and H. R. Brinkner. Of this group, Mrs. Frank Hoffman, Mrs. Asa Hoffman and Mrs. Nowotny assisted in various friendly hostess duties.

Yesterday Mrs. Mather introduced contract as the after-luncheon diversion, with three tables required for the players. Her lovely prize awards were secured by Mrs. A. G. Flegg, Mrs. P. E. Farnsworth and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless when scores were tallied at the close of the afternoon.

Included in cards issued for yesterday's hospitality were Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mrs. A. G. Flegg, Mrs. Charles Spicer, Mrs. F. Burke, Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, Mrs. Sara Haddon, Mrs. W. D. Ranney, Mrs. Franklin R. Pitner, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. R. H. Sharpless, Mrs. Charles Kelley, Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. Lester Tubbs, Mrs. Percy Davis of Santa Monica, and Mrs. Emerson Marks of San Diego.

Miss Tubach Welcomes 4-H Club Members

The W. S. Tubach home, 1130 Lyon street, was the scene of a pretty party on New Year's Eve, when Miss Marjorie Tubach, daughter of the home, entertained her sister members of Tustin 4H club.

Games and social diversions of the evening were to the accompaniment of colorful holiday decorations of red and green garlands and massed poinsettias, and the hospitality culminated with serving of a dainty refreshment course, with Mrs. Tubach assisting her daughter in all details.

Those present included the Misses Alice Bartholomew, Esterbelle Christian, Lucille Griset, Marjorie Shoemaker, Bertha Belle Smith, Mary Bartholomew, Dorothy Leonard, Tenna May Ashcroft and the hostess, Marjorie Tubach.

New Year Holiday Inspires Hospitality

In extending New Year's Eve hospitality Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Siemsen of 1810 North Main street entertained a few friends at a dinner given in their home Saturday evening. Other guests arrived later in the evening for card playing.

As the midnight hour approached a delicious supper was served by the hosts to Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lopien and daughters, Adeline and Mildred of Orange, Mrs. P. Eckoff of New York, Mr. and Mrs. J. Numemann of Anaheim and Miss Elsie Siemsen.

PERFECT FOR MATRONS
Pattern 2488

BY ANNE ADAMS

The matter of "knowing how" is shown here in a perfect frock for the matron who is no longer slim. Flattering reverses set off by a dainty lace vestee dominate the bodice while the skirt boasts slenderizing seaming with inverted pleat, just to be "different." A snug hip yoke and unbelted waistline are doubly becoming and, of course, the frock wouldn't be complete without a new sleeve treatment. Lovely for satin or crepe.

Pattern 2488 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4 1-4 yards 36 inch fabric and 3-8 yard 1 1-2 inch lace. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send Fifteen Cents (15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred)) for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

The choice of a smart, sensible and economical wardrobe becomes very simple with the aid of The Anne Adams Pattern Catalogue. This beautiful book contains 32 pages of select Anne Adams models and many delightful embroidery and accessory suggestions. Send for your copy. Price of catalog, fifteen cents. Catalog and pattern together twenty-five cents. Address all small orders to Register Pattern Department, Santa Ana.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

Leadership Training School Opens 6 Weeks Course

DR. CARL KNOPF GIVES FIRST OF SIX LECTURES

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—One of the largest initial gatherings for a church night series at the First Methodist church was that of last night, when the Leadership Training school of that church was opened for a six weeks' course and Dr. Carl S. Knopf, dean of the department of Biblical literature of the University of Southern California, gave the first of a series of six talks.

The address was preceded by violin solos by George Evans, of Santa Ana, who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Adelaide L. Proctor. Mrs. A. Haven Smith was in charge of the music and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fishback, hosts. Mr. Fishback introduced the speaker at the close of the 6:15 o'clock dinner.

Dr. Knopf spoke on "Finding Out What Is Worth While" taking the first chapter of Ecclesiastes as the basis of his information. The speaker emphasized the fact that the most worth while thing in life is the joy of having the consciousness of work well done, of doing your best, being what you are, where you are and with the equipment you have.

Wisdom is not the cause of happiness, the speaker declared, as one of the results of wisdom is the great capacity to suffer. Dr. Knopf painted a graphic picture of conditions in Palestine following the conquest of that country by Alexander the Great, who introduced Greek culture, drama, ideals and religion in every country through which he passed. 2300 years ago, Dr. Knopf said that the ideas of the young Jews, taught to believe in a fixed religious code, were upset by the doctrine of change advanced by the Greeks and that the book of Ecclesiastes was the answer made by the great teacher who wrote the book, to their questionings.

The training school opened at 8 p. m., with four classes. Dean W. T. Boyce of the Fullerton Junior college spoke to the World Fellowship class, where 34 were enrolled, on the economic situation of the world as an aftermath of the war. He said that in a 20th century age, people are trying to live by an 18th century social and political program.

In the church history class, 24 were enrolled, in the recreation class, 15, and in the dramatic class, four. R. C. Patton is dean of the school.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. You often break out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

Don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Dinner, Theater Party Is Enjoyed

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—Miss Emma June Wettlin was hostess recently at a dinner and theater party. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock at the Wettlin home, 205 North Pine street, and decorations were carried out with tall red tapers and sprays of red-berried shrubs. Old fashioned games followed the dinner and afterward the group of young people attended the theater. Miss Wettlin was assisted by her mother, Mrs. D. G. Wettlin, in entertaining.

Those present were Miss Iola Windolph, Miss Evelyn Smith, Miss Florence Campbell, Miss Priscilla Adams, Francis Robinson, Ford Underwood, John Tomblin, Harold Thomas, Dean Benson and the hostess, Miss Wettlin.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO AID CHURCH AT VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, Jan. 5.—A meeting of the members and friends of Villa Park church was held Wednesday evening at the church. Harold T. Brewer was elected chairman for the evening.

After much discussion it was moved by E. H. Adams and seconded by Mrs. Ellen Holditch, "That we allow the young people of the community three months' time in which to reorganize the church. It being understood they will obtain the necessary financial support and have the activities functioning satisfactorily within the time allowed."

"It is further understood that if activities are not satisfactorily underway at the end of this period that the church will then meet and disband." This motion was carried unanimously.

C. E. Squires and Mrs. Harding Ford reported on the sentiment of the community in regard to reorganizing the church. Each had seen several people, most of whom were favoring the proposition. The trustees and older members of the church felt discouraged, but were willing to give the young people an opportunity and to aid them in every way possible. H. D. Nichols reported that the Ministerial union hoped to have a chapel, some time in the future, at Irvine park, and that there might be a possibility of salvaging Villa Park church to help build the chapel.

It was announced that a meeting of the Ladies' Aid will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ellen Holditch on Lincoln street.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Adams, Mrs. Ellen Holditch, Miss Margaret Holditch, Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Brewer, Mrs. Harding Ford, Mrs. A. R. Reish, Mrs. A. Caldwell, Mrs. Walter M. Tipple, Mrs. Chauncey E. Squires, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. John Reish, Mrs. Harry L. Skiles and Jay Skiles, of El Modena.

ASTRONOMY TOPIC AT CLUB SESSION

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Jennie Lasby Tessmann, of Santa Ana, was the speaker at the meeting of the Orange Lions club Wednesday, when she discussed astronomy. Dr. J. E. Riley was program chairman. In explaining something about the solar system, Mrs. Tessmann said that man had made his way along the path of civilization by charting his way by the stars.

The speaker said that one of the most important days of history was when Galileo discovered with his home made telescope, four satellites near Jupiter. Mrs. Tessmann in the course of her talk gave a number of figures regarding light-years and the way they are measured and said that the stars are believed to be 30 billion in number.

The matter on the largest star is of about the same density as earth fog, said the speaker and on the smallest star the matter is so dense that a teaspoon would weigh a ton.

tor of the First Presbyterian church, leaves Monday for San Francisco to attend the general council of the churches of California.

Miss Dorothy Bartley will leave Monday for Santa Barbara, where she is attending the State Teachers' college. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bartley, are still confined to their home with influenza, having been ill since Christmas.

Mrs. J. A. Goss, 173 North Pine street, is reported as showing considerable improvement over hip injuries received several weeks ago when she fell at her home here. She is now able to sit up in bed for a short time each day.

Past Matrons of O. E. S. are to meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. E. S. Ross, 232 North Cambridge street.

Recent guests of Mrs. Angeline Courtney, 273 South Lemon street, were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perry, of Long Beach, and a former college chum of Mrs. Courtney's, Miss Helena Dimock, of Santiago canyon.

OFFICERS FOR LUTHERANS OF OLIVE ELECTED

OLIVE, Jan. 5.—At the annual meeting of the voting members of St. Paul's Lutheran church Tuesday evening all the officers were re-elected for their respective positions except Ben Lemke and Robert Paulus who were succeeded by Herman Lemke and Fred Kamrath as elders. The executive board will therefore be composed of Carl Gollin, president; Herman Meleroth, vice-president; W. E. Paulus, treasurer; C. Helm and Herman Lemke, elders, and H. O. Luchau and Fred Kamrath, school board.

Otto Guenther was given his release and Ed Guenther was received into voting membership.

The treasurer's report was gratifying, since the books were able to show a neat balance for the past year. Approximately $5000 was raised by the congregation last year, of which $779.22 were for mission purposes.

The numerical strength of the congregation has remained the same during the past year, the gains and losses balancing each other. The following statistical report has been prepared by the pastor: Baptized members, 246; communicant members, 160; voting members, 47; five baptisms, five confirmations, two marriages and three burials were held in the past year. The enrollment in the day-school was 54 and in the Sunday school, 46.

A bachelor tax on priests and members of monastic order has been voted by one Spanish provision.

OFFICERS OF WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS OF ORANGE INSTALLED; 150 PRESENT FOR CEREMONIES

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—With 150 in attendance, new officers for the Women's Relief corps were installed at a colorful ceremony at the I. O. O. F. hall last night. A chicken dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and decorations for the tables were carried out in pink and white. Mrs. Gladys McDonald, first member of the department executive board, was the installing officer. She wore a gown of periwinkle blue satin and a corsage of sweet peas.

New officers installed were: President, Mrs. Florence Merri-man, who was in white lace; senior vice president, Mrs. Hazel Hall; junior vice president, Mrs. Emma Wells; treasurer, Mrs. Gladys McDonald; conductor, Mrs. Hart Pennington; chaplain, Mrs. Grace Strickland; guard, Mrs. Mabel Elliott.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hattie Buhman, Mrs. Florence Merri-man, Mrs. Edna McCollum and Mrs. Essie Riggs.

Secretary, Mrs. Carrie Lewis; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Grace Deck; press reporter, Mrs. Mildred Hall; assistant conductor, Mrs. Rebekah Baier; assistant guard, Mrs. Annie Laurie; color bearers, Mrs. Pearl Higgins, Mrs. Hattie Buhman, Mrs. Gladys Weatherbee and Mrs. Euphemia Ralls.

Mrs. Pearl Higgins acted as installing conductor, Mrs. Ella Kilgore as installing musician, Mrs. Estelle Grey as installing chaplain and Mrs. Maude English as installing guard.

Four members of the Anaheim corps, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Mrs. Frances Morey and Mrs. Anna-bella Thompson and Mrs. Ida Lake acted as installing color bearers.

Following the installation, trio numbers were given by Mrs. Winifred Sutton, violin; Mrs. C. A. McGill, harmonica, and Mrs. Kate Bonecutter, piano. An address was given by Alfred Hall, Spanish war veteran of Santa Ana.

DR. WIEMAN IN FIRST TALK OF SERIES TONIGHT

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—Discussion of the county health program featured the meeting of the city council of the P. T. A. at a luncheon at Trinity Episcopal church parish house yesterday and a resolution was passed asking county supervisors to continue as far as possible the present county health program.

Mrs. Mary Gross reported that the present P. T. A. membership for Orange is 280. George Sherwood, announced tentative plans for special activities and exhibits during Educational week.

Mrs. Glenn Reck, president, was in charge of the meeting. Announcement was made of the first of a series of lectures under the auspices of the P. T. A. council to be given tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Orange Union high school auditorium by Dr. Regina Westcott Wieman. There is no admittance charge and all interested are urged to attend.

Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim, district publicity chairman, announced a publicity conference to be held all day Friday of this week in the Anaheim Knights of Pythias hall, 325 West Center street. There is to be a covered dish luncheon at noon. Mrs. Joseph Marcombe, of San Francisco, state chairman of publicity, is to conduct the session.

A regular district meeting of the association will be held all day Friday, January 12, at Newport Union High school.

Hostess at yesterday's meeting was Mrs. W. C. Armstrong. Other present were George Sherwood, Miss Vena Jones and Meadames C.

THREE BOOKS REVIEWED AS PASTORS MEET

Friendly Class Is Entertained

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—Three books of interest were reviewed by Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, president of the Orange Ministerial union, when the group met at the "Y" headquarters for their monthly conference yesterday afternoon. Books reviewed were "Chinatown Quest," by Carol Green Wilson, which relates the life of Donaldina Cameron, a missionary to the Orient; "The Life of Kagawa," by Axling and "Psychology for Religious Workers," by Dewar.

At the next meeting of the group on February 1, the Rev. Nicholas Davilla will present a list of books which he considers the best to read in order to study Mexico. He will give a brief resume of the contents of the books he introduces.

Plans for the observance of Easter on April 16 will be made at this meeting as Lent begins March 1.

The Tobacco Crop may be Short this Year

but that can't affect Chesterfield—why?

Production of tobaccos usable for cigarettes or "roll your own."
U. S. crop (average, 5 years, 1927-31)	1,091,265,750 lbs.
U. S. crop (Govt. estimate, 1932)	751,601,000 lbs.
Estimated shortage, 1932 crop	339,664,750 lbs.

The manufacturer of good cigarettes does not depend on any one year's crop. He knows that to keep up the quality of his brand, he has to carry on hand at all times a large stock of the right kinds of tobacco from several years' crops.

The domestic tobaccos are kept in large hogsheads, each containing about 1000 pounds, and are allowed to age for two full years—in other words, nature's method of curing the tobaccos. Something like aging wine.

Liggett & Myers has about four and a half miles of warehouses used for storing leaf tobacco, to make sure that its products are uniform and are as good as can be made.

To do this requires a great deal of money—for example, there is invested in the domestic and Turkish tobaccos for Chesterfield Cigarettes over $75,000,000.

Smokers can be assured, regardless of the crop conditions, that Chesterfield will be absolutely uniform—the same yesterday, today, at all times. The cigarette that's milder—the cigarette that tastes better!

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Tinymites enjoyed their meal of fish. "Oh, my, how good that is," said Windy. "I must stop, cannot eat another bite." The fisherman just smiled and said, "Oh, there is plenty. Go ahead and eat some more. Why, ad, you haven't any appetite?" "Say, you forget that we are small. It isn't hard for us at all to eat much more than we can," Duncy said, "you're big and fat." "I know I've had more than my share, and, honestly, I wouldn't care eat one more bite. I'd be so full I'd have to stretch out flat."

"All right," the fisherman replied. "Just sit right down here by my side and wait until I've finished. Then I'll pull some fishing tricks."

"Whenever I toss out my net, some dandy fish I always get. The whoppers that swim near the net are in an awful fix." He shortly proved that he was right. It really was a thrilling sight to watch him haul in fish each time the net was pulled to shore.

At last he said, "Well, I'm tired out. You've seen enough of this, no doubt. Why don't you fly to other spots, where new sights are in store?"

"I promise it won't be in vain. If you all hop into your plane and sail directly north until you've traveled just ten miles."

"Then slowly drift down to the ground and there a fine man will be found. Why, when you meet him, lais, your faces will be spread in smiles."

"His name is Freezy! Say hello for me. And now you'd better go." And so the Tinies sailed away. In no time they were there.

They landed with an easy glide and shortly Scouty loudly cried, "There's Freezy, boys! He's waving both his hands up in the air." (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

(Freezy takes the Tinies on a thrilling sled ride in the next story.)

New Officers Of Fullerton 20-30 Club Installed

ANAHEIM MAN GIVES ADDRESS ON MANCHURIA

FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—Kenneth F. Goodale was installed as president, Lloyd Verry, vice president; Fred Lamping, secretary-treasurer; Alvin Blackford, Dick McKee, Laurence Mitchell and Bill Swain new trustees of Fullerton 20-30 club, chapter 59, at the regular session last night. They are to serve six months. Goodale was installed by Arlon Reimert, outgoing president, and the other new officers were installed by Leonard England, a past president. The meeting was at McFarland's cafe. The Crusader octet, under the direction of Gordon Drew, presented several numbers as entertainment during the dinner hour.

The present situation in China is a result of the need and demand of Japan to expand, Paul Damaree, instructor of Anaheim Union High school, told the members in a talk on the Manchurian situation. Damaree was born in Kobe, Japan. He presented the Japanese side of the situation, not, he said, because he is in sympathy with the policy, but because people are well informed through journals and papers of the Chinese angle, but know nothing of the Japanese thought.

In connection with the thought that she has made one of the most remarkable advancements in the past 75 years that any nation of the world has been known to make, taking the best from all of the other world powers, he said. Her need for expansion and her feeling that in several settlements she has not been given a square deal, have provided ample reason, in her urgent nationalistic spirit, for building up a great army, and training youth to war, Damaree declared.

At present, according to the speaker, she feels her rights are impaired in Manchuria. It chances, according to him, that Japan is using about the same methods other nations have used for expansion, but has begun to use those methods after having signed peace treaties, and other documents of world powers, prohibiting such actions.

"Japan has burned all bridges behind her," Damaree said, "and does not intend to let anything stop her in her program for territorial advancement. Civilization is centering on the Pacific ocean and the United States will be the biggest nation in the world if it can prevent war that seems imminent."

Conduct Funeral Of Mrs. Lavering

FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—Funeral services for Mrs. Mahala Jane Lavering, 83, who died at her home on Highland Tuesday, were conducted Wednesday at the McAulay and Sutters funeral home. She is survived by her husband, S. S. Lavering, and by six children, Mrs. G. T. Linn and Walter L. Lavering, of Arvada, Wyo.; Mrs. Eva Creswell, of Pasadena; Mrs. Ada K. Karr, of Fullerton; Mrs. A. J. Karr, of Galt, Calif.; and C. E. Lavering, of Lindsay.

Secretary Peace Group Slated To Talk In Fullerton

FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, general secretary of the Church Peace Union and World Alliance for International Friendship, will speak at the January meeting of Fullerton International Relations council tonight following a 6:30 o'clock dinner at McFarland's cafe.

The speaker was secured through the efforts of the Rev. Graham C. Hunter of Fullerton Presbyterian church, who was a member with him of the committee on rights of religious minorities that sat in Southern Europe several years ago. At present Dr. Atkinson is secretary of that committee. His headquarters are in Paris and New York.

In addition to the talk, there will be an annual election of officers and yearly reports.

INSTALLATION CONDUCTED BY KIWANIS CLUB

BUENA PARK, Jan. 5.—Installation of the newly elected officers was held at the regular Kiwanis meeting Tuesday night. The installation ceremonies were conducted by Lieutenant Governor Emmett Berry, of La Habra.

Ralph Cummins was installed as president of the Kiwanis club, with Dr. R. D. Temple serving as vice president. Bob Warlaumont is secretary for the new year and Herbert Bixby is treasurer. The directors are Carl Brenner, the Rev. LaRue C. Watson, James Dunbar, Harry Horn, Ed Marxen, Roland Upton, Bert Wells and Bob Warlaumont.

The committees and their chairmen are: attendance, membership and classification, chairman, James Dunbar, assisted by Dick Nelson and Henry Warren; finance and budget committee, Bob Warlaumont, chairman, with Herbert Bixby, Bert Wells and Henry Schmidt completing the group; house and reception, C. L. McComber, chairman, with Arni Nelson and the Rev. Watson. L. T. Wilsey is chairman of the interclub relations committee, with Arthur Gorey and Harry Horn. Kiwanis education committee, Ed Marxen, chairman; Arthur Gorey, George Trapp and Dr. Temple; music, Carl Brenner, chairman, assisted by Bob Warlaumont and Stanley Kurtz; Keith Morse, chairman of program committee, with Lolland Upton, Dick Nelson and L. T. Wilsey; George Trapp, chairman of publicity and affairs, James Dunbar and Henry Schmidt completing the list.

L. D. Jaynes is sergeant-at-arms, Earl Reese, historian and Arthur Gorey, song leader.

A dinner was served preceding the installation ceremonies. Orchid and pink sweet peas were used for centerpieces along the tables.

The Rev. George Tinsley of the Fullerton Christian church was the speaker of the evening choosing as his topic, "The Temper of the Times." Initiation of Stanley Kurtz, Homer Kreps and Earl Reese was held.

NEW SCHEDULE OF RATES SET IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Jan. 5.—Through a ruling of the California railroad commission which places the communities of Placentia and La Jolla on the same schedule of water rates a controversy that has been waged for more than a year has been settled.

The schedule was established on application of the American States Water Service company which serves the two communities by an inter-connecting system but with a different schedule of rates in each city.

The new schedule of rates, as approved by the commission will produce approximately $1310, less revenue than the schedule now in effect. City Attorney Albert Launer of Placentia informed the commission that there is an urgent need for improved fire protection service for that city and asked that the matter be given consideration in the proceedings.

The new rates adopted by the commission are as follows: Monthly minimum meter rate charges: 5/8 x 3/4-inch meter, $1.25; 3/4-inch meter, $2; 1-inch meter, $2.75; 1-1/2-inch meter, $4; 2-inch meter, $6; 3-inch meter, $10.

The foregoing monthly minimum charges will entitle the consumer to the quantity of water which that monthly minimum charge will purchase at the following monthly quantity rates: 1000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 25 cents; 1000 to 4000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 20 cents; 4000 to 8000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 15 cents; 8000 to 12,000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 12 cents; all over 12,000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 10 cents.

Municipal service per month: fire hydrants, $1.

USE AUTO ENGINES ON H. B. WELL JOBS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 5.—A new use has been found for old automobile engines. They are being put to work pumping oil wells at Huntington Beach. Two former oil workers have been supporting themselves and families during the past few months by selling and installing auto gasoline engines at oil wells in the field here.

The auto engines are said to work fine at the pump jobs. In some instances the auto engines have displaced electric motors and also gas engines. As long as there is no heavy casing to handle the auto engines do all the necessary work.

BABY BOYS BORN

LA HABRA, Jan. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Graves, former La Habra, are the parents of a baby son, born in Los Angeles December 31. He has been named Rodney Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Webster (Josephine Taylor) also of Los Angeles and former La Habra, are the parents of a baby son.

CITY TO BUY WATER SYSTEM MATERIALS IN OPEN MARKET

LA HABRA, Jan. 5.—At an adjourned meeting of the La Habra city council last night bids were received the night before on the proposed municipal water system were presented in tabulated form by City Engineer John Sanks.

After considering the bids resolution No. 179 was read and adopted, rejecting all bids for pipe and fittings and declaring that it was the purpose of the city to buy all pipe fittings and supplies for the system in the open market.

The American Cast Iron Pipe company for pipe and the Hercules Foundry company for fittings, having submitted lowest figures for pipe and fittings, the city attorney was instructed to draw up contracts to be presented to these companies for the purchase of such materials in the open market.

City Engineer Sanks asked for further time to report on valves, meters, etc., as he deemed it necessary to check the quality of the various types bid upon and was given until Tuesday evening to complete such a report for presentation to the council. Councilmen Thurnher, Newson and Randall was to act as a consulting committee with the engineer.

REPORTS GIVEN AT SESSION OF BREA JOBLESS

BREA, Jan. 5.—The matter of securing a sufficient amount of potatoes for use of its members seems to be the pressing need of the Brea Unemployed association, according to the report of the field superintendent, George Himes as given at Tuesday's meeting of that group. Bread, which the association had been securing at a Los Angeles bakery at one cent a loaf, has jumped to two cents a loaf.

Himes reported that a tractor is soon to be loaned by the management of the Bastanchury company for the purpose of plowing additional acreage loaned by the Union Oil company and which will probably be planted to potatoes. Several of the nearby oil companies have donated eucalyptus trees on their leases and these are being cut down by members of the association, brought to the Brea yards and cut into stove wood. Members are permitted to take their wages for this work in wood, selling for cash or produce what they cannot use themselves.

President J. B. Davis reported cash on hand in the amount of $54.04. Another substantial donation is expected from one of the nearby oil companies for the month of January. W. C. Churchill and Ray Wheeler, a committee appointed for securing the use of the high school auditorium for a benefit entertainment, reported that it might be had. Efforts are being made by the P-T-A. and the unemployed to secure the services of Tadpole and Molly, radio entertainers, the proceeds to be divided between the two groups. The details of such a program and the date will be given out soon, it was announced.

Financial secretary, C. R. Merrifield; treasurer, Kenneth Suttiff; missionary treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Sullivan; clerk, W. E. Fanning; pianists, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Virgil Kiger; musical directors, Mrs. F. J. Schweitzer and R. O. Williams.

Sunday school superintendent, R. O. Williams; assistant, W. E. Fanning; Sunday school pianists, Inez Jones and Marguerite Nay; special programs superintendents, Mrs. Hugh Jones and Mrs. Charles Sullivan; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. R. Merrifield; librarian, Mrs. C. Hamlin; superintendent of the cradle roll department, Mrs. J. M. Burquist; assistant, Mrs. Robert Critchlow.

The nominating committee comprised John Sexton, R. A. Bates, Mrs. F. J. Schweitzer and the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Runyan. Dr. W. E. Jackson, chairman of the board, being unable to be present, the Rev. Runyan presided. He announced that the newly elected elders, deacons and deaconesses, comprising the new board, will meet next week to select its officers. Other announcements made by the pastor were that of a leadership training class which will open in Fullerton in February 14 in which he will instruct in the book of Mark. The Christian church of Brea will conduct a revival in Olinda in February and a junior membership for the church is to be the immediate objective. Beginning March 5 a loyalty campaign, a go-to-church drive, will be conducted by all the Brea churches until Easter.

Hold Funeral Of Mrs. Easterbrook

TUSTIN, Jan. 5.—Funeral services were held Wednesday in Long Beach for Mrs. Grace Marchant Easterbrook, of Montebello, who passed away last Friday. The deceased is a sister of L. L. Marchant, of Sixth street, Tustin, and formerly resided in Tustin, where she had many friends.

Brea Church Will Form Bible Class

BREA, Jan. 5.—A Bible study class will be started this evening at the Full Gospel Assembly church, with Miss Lucy Craig as the leader. Miss Craig will give a summary on each of the books of the New Testament before forming the class and the members will then choose the book or the subject which they want to study. The class will meet each Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Craig is now the Sunday school superintendent.

CONDITION OF JOBLESS TOLD PLACENTIA C. C.

PLACENTIA, Jan. 5.—George Macgee, of Fullerton, was principal speaker Tuesday at Placentia Chamber of Commerce meeting and spent a short time telling the large assembly of members and guests of the condition of the unemployed in Fullerton and other Orange county places, urging that all who can, assist in their own localities in caring for these people, and that leaders of community life study legislation and urge passage of such that will not only relieve the situation but will provide against another such depression.

George Kellogg, of Yorba Linda, spoke on the disposition of the state three cents tax on gasoline and motor vehicles, and suggested that the plan as outlined by a speaker for the Automobile Club of Southern California last week will not carry, because of political lineups and the over balanced representation for Northern California, where there are 27 senatorial representatives to Southern California's 13.

Kellogg urged study of the problem, and presented other solutions than the one approached last week, that of adding about 6000 miles of county highway to the state secondary highway system. This proposed change would place most of the roads in Southern California to balance the greater number in the northern part of the state.

The plan as suggested by John Quinn, of Los Angeles, was outlined by Kellogg, who said it has the sanction of many organizations, and provides, in part, for placing more money in the hands of each county, according to registration, and that the counties work under a master plan, non-political, for the whole. Stuart Strathman announced tickets are on sale for the annual meeting of the Placentia Round Table clubhouse next Monday night. He also announced a ballot box is in the office where members may cast their vote for new directors.

E. J. Menard reported that after considerable investigation he has found that the Federal Land bank does not refuse to loan money to farmers getting water from the Anaheim Water company in Orange county but does refuse loans to ranchers pumping from wells in basins where they draw from lower than 50 feet under ground. H. H. Hale suggested that is interesting, in the light that the water company draws more than 50 per cent of their water from underground at a lower depth.

PROGRAM HELD BY P-T-A. AT MESA

COSTA MESA, Jan. 5.—"Character Building" was the topic discussed at the January P-T-A. meeting at the main school auditorium Tuesday afternoon, the study being directed by Mrs. Orville L. Northrup, program chairman.

Speakers included Mrs. R. L. Davis, Miss Jessie Horner, Mrs. M. Pickenpaugh, Mrs. D. J. Dodge, Mrs. H. Abrams, Mrs. Vittorio Marega, Mrs. Marvin Wilcox, Mrs. J. Hinesley, Mrs. W. D. Ball, Mrs. E. A. Rae and Mrs. J. Moss. Mrs. R. H. Hill presided and announced the district meeting to be held in Anaheim January 6.

ENTER H. B. LEAGUE

WESTMINSTER, Jan. 5.—The Westminster church basketball team is entering the Huntington Beach league this year and the local team is scheduled to play its first game this evening at the Huntington Beach grammar school.

ABANDONMENT OF 2 STREETS IS AUTHORIZED

BREA, Jan. 5.—At a brief session of the city council last night a resolution of intention to abandon certain streets and alleys within the city limits was read and unanimously adopted. The streets are Union and Sycamore and a 20-foot alley intersecting them, a part of the Dr. W. E. Wickett tract on East Elm street, petition for the abandonment of the five-acre tract having been submitted by Wickett at a previous meeting of the council.

Following discussion of the matter, further effort will be made by the city officials to enlist the assistance of the Legionnaires in securing pipe and other material necessary for a sprinkling system in front of the Legion hall. The city will furnish the labor and the water and it was thought the Legionnaires would be able to secure the pipe and the hedge plants for a border around the plot adjoining the hall. The drinking fountain, money for which was subscribed last year by the Brea Woman's club, is also to be installed shortly.

Street Superintendent Fred Bozell reported that the string of lights, consisting of 40 bulbs, stolen from the municipal Christmas tree prior to Christmas, had been returned to the city park and left near the tree.

City Clerk Grace May produced a sample stamp carrying the words, "Buy Goods Made in America and Increase Employment." Mayor Hogue suggested that a stamp be purchased and the imprint made on all papers leaving the city hall.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB CHARGES "RAID ON GASOLINE TAX"

We may now expect to see the various interests attack everything which the Governor has suggested, looking toward the reduction of taxes. The automobile organizations are going to fight what they call his "raid on the gasoline tax."

We would suggest that it would be found, upon investigation, that the membership of the automobile club, which really should cut the figure, is in favor of the use of the gas tax money to save additional taxes in other directions. The suggestion that the gas tax is on a certain class of citizens is rather ridiculous, for the people who do not directly or indirectly use automobiles, and thereby use gasoline, are so few that for the purpose of calculation, they could easily be ignored. And certainly their rights are not being invaded at all by having their tax burdens relieved.

We do not believe that the automobile officers are speaking for the rank and file of automobile club members, when they express themselves in this way. We are reminded of a measure that was being put through to tax automobiles in a neighboring state some years ago. The Secretary of the Automobile Club wrote a letter to the representative of those counties, telling him how many thousands of automobilists were against this tax, and how metaphorically, they would "bury him," etc., etc.

He came back bewildered and frightened, and asked a friend if the automobile owners were all up in arms. The friend said, "I don't know, but you better go around and ask a few of the members." He selected a dozen members of the automobile club, and inquired of each man in turn if he were opposed to this particular tax bill that had been passed. He returned more discouraged, if anything, to the friend who had suggested it, and on the question of his friend as to what experience he had had, he said: "There wasn't one of those fellows who knew that the bill had been passed. They never heard of it."

Sometimes these secretaries cannot speak, and are not speaking for the rank and file of folks. We must remember that the automobile owners are the taxpayers of our cities and counties.

In times of stress, such as we are passing through, it is always wiser to keep the expense of government as closely under the supervision of the man who pays the taxes as possible. The tendency frequently is for the state, in any case, to be more liberal with money that comes from the taxpayers everywhere than the local representatives are, when they are so close to their taxpaying group.

This is one of the reasons why, as well as the justice of it, we favor the program of the League of Municipalities and the board of supervisors, which have agreed upon one half a cent of the gas tax to go to the cities, one and a half cents to the state, and one cent to the counties. We hope that in the program of the Governor, he has this in mind, for we certainly, in the interest of economy, efficiency and justice, should see that this is carried out.

THE ANNUAL CROP OF NEW DISCOVERIES AND NEW IDEAS

During the Christmas holidays the learned societies of the country hold their annual meetings for the discussion of subjects within their several domains. The reports of many of the papers read at these meetings find their way into the news columns of the daily press. Each day during the meetings held in Cincinnati, Atlantic City and in New Haven, some startling statements have been made by scientists, economists and literary critics that have been "live news."

Among these the economists and the physical scientists generally hold the center of the stage. In the economic conferences the technocrats have been given a field day. The economists are very critical of the new school. But at least the technocrats have been given a hearing, and whether or not they have made any contribution to the present economic snarl remains to be seen. In the physical sciences, we note that Prof. Millikan and Prof. Compton have differed quite vigorously about the nature of the cosmic rays. This difference between scholars gives the layman the privilege of holding on to his traditional belief a bit longer. Where scholars disagree there is nothing else to do for most of us but to hold on to what we have inherited from the past.

Still, as we have been reading the various news reports that have come from these meetings, we are more and more impressed with the comparative lack of knowledge there still is with reference to this universe, of which man believes himself to be such an important element. The more we know, the more we find there is yet to be known. Man's span of three score years and ten is such an infinitesimal part of the ages of illimitable time, that it is useless to get excited about any new discovery. Whatever is being discovered, there is so much more to be discovered that we had better become resigned that we are yet infants in our grasp and knowledge of the colossal forces that exist in the smallest insect as well as in the great universe. When we recall that a microbe killed Alexander, and changed the course of world history, who is there that will despise the smallest thing that exists?

THE UNFORTUNATE LAME-DUCK SESSION

While it may be a matter for congratulation that this is the last "lame duck" session our history will know, it is singularly unfortunate that we were inflicted with such a session at this critical time. It may be recalled that in the Congress previous to this one now about to expire, the Senate and House passed the resolution as it is now before the States for ratification; but inserted a proviso limiting the second session of the Congress to a shorter prescribed period. This proviso the Senate refused to concur with, and the resolution failed in this disagreement between the two Houses. Had the Senate resolution carried through, the present Congress would have been governed by the change in the Constitution.

Never has the misfortune of a "lame duck" session been more manifest than now. The people in the last election called for a complete change in government. Presumably, there will be an entire change of domestic and foreign policy on the part of the incoming administration. Co-operation between the outgoing and the incoming administration during the intervening period was out of the question. On the matter of the foreign debts and the balancing of the national budget the two leaders, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt, are in total disagreement as to the method, and nearly total as to principle.

Yet here are these critical questions crying for solution, and the Government has reached a stalemate in dealing with them. The fault is not with Mr. Hoover or Mr. Roosevelt. It is the fault of an archaic system of government which has fastened upon a growing country an impossible situation. Fortunately, as we have said, we are soon to be rid of this anachronism. But in view of the crisis in which the country finds itself, both in domestic matters and in matters of international concern, we wish that Mr. Longworth's control of the House of Representatives had terminated two years sooner. Had it been so, the new administration would now be on the point of taking over the government, and the country, instead of waiting seventy more precious days, could immediately proceed to the shaping of a new policy.

NO HARMONY POSSIBLE

We received, anonymously, an editorial which we had written on the Times New Year number, pasted on the same sheet with a statement from Will Rogers. Above these two articles was this: "Please write an editorial squaring these contradictory editorials."

We want to say that while we carry Will Rogers' statements, Will Rogers is not an editorial writer on The Register. And, as Will says himself, he has reserved the right to differ from the editor, and incidentally, the editors have reserved the right to differ from Will Rogers, which we do on many occasions.

If we thought that the readers generally, believed that Will Rogers' ideas were directing the editorial policy of The Register, we would certainly eliminate him, as much as we enjoy his quips. For sometimes we feel that he "hits the nail right on the head," and then again, we feel he has hit his finger instead. But, in any case, we enjoy him.

A HOME LIKE WELCOME

The best of the day is what Mrs. Fitts said concerning the hold-up in their home, where several of the relatives and Mr. and Mrs. Fitts were held up by bandits. She said:

It was too bad for our relatives. They had just arrived from Chicago, and this must have made them feel they were right in their home town.

Some people might have gotten away with the idea, if they were in Fitts' place, that he had staged it just to make them feel at home.

The "Kitchen Cabinet"

Omaha World-Herald

We would much rather be a member of a presidential "kitchen" or inner-circle, cabinet than a member of the one provided for by the Constitution. In the kitchen cabinet everything goes on behind the scenes. A member of that cabinet seldom sees his name or face in the papers, but the President is just as likely as not to slap him jovially on the back and call him Joe or Pete or You Old Potato.

A member of the big Cabinet, the formal Cabinet, meets the President out in the open with everybody wearing his coat and collar and tie. The President bows and addresses him as Mr. Secretary and they pose together for the news reels. That's nice in a way, no doubt, but we like the other scene better, where everybody is sitting around in his shirt-sleeves, eating peanuts, laughing and talking . . . and really getting down to brass tacks.

We don't say, understand, that the President ever sits around in his shirt-sleeves . . . and eats peanuts. All we say is that if ever he does it must be at a meeting of the kitchen cabinet. Every President, at least since Jackson, has had a kitchen cabinet and has seemed to enjoy meeting with it. There must be some reason. We think we know what it is. We think the President does sometimes sit around in his shirt-sleeves—and gets a big kick out of it, too.

Scholarly Marine Leads Nation in College Test

San Bernardino Sun

It may be news when an applicant for admission to college passes a good examination. From the publicity given to Linton Keith, freshman in the University of Chicago, you might imagine he had made a winning touchdown.

If you ask us, he has. Keith not only stood first among 750 freshmen in a "scholastic aptitude" test, he stood highest of all the 200,000 college freshmen in this country who have taken such tests in the last 10 years.

There are two other reasons why this freshman is good news. One of them is that he's an ex-marine. We expect almost any superhuman feat of marines. The other reason is no less interesting. Keith is 36 years old, married and the father of two children. He comes obviously into the "adult education" class. It is one of the notable discoveries of these last few years that grown-ups past the usual school age are likely to be as quick-witted, and as able to learn, as young fellows. The 36-year-old freshman neatly proves it.

Capacity To Pay

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE HIGH COST OF FREEDOM

The terrible Turk, when he learned
That only one wife he could wed,
Appeared very little concerned;
"Well, Kismet is Kismet," he said,
"No more I'll need labor twelve hours a day,
Beset by collectors with duellists,
When I haven't a single piastre to pay
For dress bills, and hat bills, and shoe bills.
When the clamors of multiple tradespeople cease
I'll begin to enjoy a full measure of peace."

But alas! he had never a guess
That his legally modernized wife
Would speedily alter her dress
As her freedom had altered her life.
Being merely a husband, he could not foresee
That she'd have to have waves in her tresses,
Buy shoes by the dozen, and send to Paree
For the latest creations in dresses,
As well as to redden her nails to the tips

To match the cerise on her cheeks and her lips.
Secluded no more she repines
To the end of her dull dreary days;
Each evening she dances and dines
In resplendent, expensive cafes.
She is only one wife, where there used to be ten
To provide with their meals and attire,
But it dawns on her better half now and again
And often his vision is wistfully cast
Toward the more economical days of the past.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

ON PREVENTING DEBT COLLECTION

Yesterday I recalled Woodrow Wilson's prophetic statement on April 1, 1917, that, with the United States as the last of the great neutrals in the war, the world would undertake to reconstruct a peace-time civilization with war standards.

This has been pitifully evident in the post-war arrangements respecting debts and reparations.

All the common sense and economic judgment that go along with the peace-time standards were thrown to the winds. Statesmanship was adjourned in the interest of penalties and vengeance.

The result has been that, from the end of the war until now, the governments of the creditor countries, while asserting the urgency of debt collection, have formulated and followed economic policies that have effectively prevented debt payments.

The creditor countries have insistently held to the belief that they could not receive unlimited payments of debts and reparations without wrecking their own economic welfare.

If this sounds too absurd to say that we and the other creditor nations have been saying, in one breath, that the debtors must pay, and in the next breath, saying that we cannot afford to accept payment, let me analyze in detail how this is just what has been happening.

When all is said and done, there is only one way in which a debtor nation can discharge great war debts, and that is by achieving a surplus of exports over imports. And the other side of the picture is that the creditor nation must, while this is going on, have an excess of imports over exports.

Gold can be used only up to a certain point.

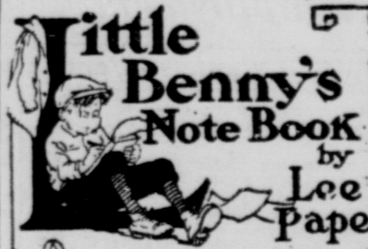

Movable goods and capital assets can be used only up to a certain point.

Borrowing can be used only up to a certain point. A debtor nation is not essentially different from a corporation, and a corporation cannot, save within definite limits, discharge its obligations by giving away its capital or by resorting to borrowing, for beyond a certain point using its capital destroys the corporation and unlimited borrowing sinks it under an unbearable weight. A corporation must, in the final analysis, discharge its obligations out of net earnings.

Just as must a debtor nation, like Germany, finally meet her war debts out of the excess of her exports over her imports in the year to year run of her business.

This means that the creditor nations must pursue economic policies that make for the economic recovery of Germany and allow an outflow of German goods in world trade. That is, they must follow such policies if they expect a practical solution of the war debts problem.

From one end of the creditor world to the other one economic policy after another has flown directly in the face of this elementary principle of economic relationship. Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspaper's Syn.

"Charles, you cannot have a lollipop until you have had your lunch."

"I want it now-ow-ow-ow," with a rising inflection and increase of volume on each ow.

"Hush, hush, don't cry. You will disturb grandma. No, you can't have it. When mother says No, she means No."

Gimme it, gimme it. I want it now-ow-ow-ow."

"For pity's sake, Molly, what's that child? What is he crying for?"

Louder Ows from the wide open throat of young Charles. He recognizes the weakening in mother's tone and the ally in grandma.

"Well, let the poor child have it. It isn't going to hurt him. Let him have it for this time. There, there. You shall have your lollipop. Grandma's little son, yes he shall."

Charles got the lollipop and peace reigned. Only for a time. Father is starting for a trip to the village in the car. Charles spies him. "I wanna go, I wanna go."

"But you can't, Charles. Daddy won't be back in time for your lunch. Some other time."

Charles throws the lollipop across the yard and raises his voice to high heaven. "Goodness, Molly, what is the matter with him?"

"He wants to go with you and—"

"Well, let him. Sooner than hear him yell like that I'll take him anywhere."

"But he hasn't had his lunch and—"

"Oh never mind. He can have it when he comes back and anyway if he is hungry I can get him a glass of milk. Come on, Kid."

Away goes Charles beaming like a full moon. Mother looks a bit troubled but then, what can you do? He can't be allowed to cry.

Evening finds everybody tired. The room grows darker and darker and Uncle Henry strikes a match to light the candles. Matches are rare in Charles' life. Electricity makes them unnecessary and unusual so he wants one. "Gimme one, gimme one."

"No, no," his loving family

MAKES HIS PRICE

"My daughter's music lessons are a fortune to me."
"How is that?"
"They enabled me to buy the neighbors' houses at half price—Hummel, Hamburg."

BAD GUESS

The doctor had forgotten his patient's name, but did not like to admit it. Very tactfully, he inquired: "Let me see—do you spell your name with an 'i' or with an 'e'?"
"My name," said the patient, "is Hill."—The Humorist.

NOT FROM CHOICE

"Will you help a poor fellow?"
"What is it?"
"My wife is starving!"
"So's mine, old fellow, and it's rather hard lines on the poor adies, but it is the only way to get that fashionable figure."—Answers.

WEIGHTY PROBLEM

BRIDE: I made this pudding all by myself.
HUBBY: Splendid! But who helped you lift it out of the oven?—Montreal Standard.
